350 MEN ENTOMBED IN PENNSYLVANIA MINE

EXPLOSION WRECKS MOUTH OF OPENINGS

HAPPENED AT NOON AT MINE AT EHRENFELD, 15 MILES EAST OF JOHNSTOWN

FEAR EXPRESSED THAT FEW IF ANY ESCAPED WITH THEIR LIVES

Johnstown, Pa., March 30. — (UP)—Three hundred and fifty men were trapped in the Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Company's mine at Ehrenfeld, about 15 miles east of Johnstown, in an explosion at noon today.

The explosion blew up the mine office and wrecked the mouth of the openings, leaving little hope for the men inside.

Calls for help of doctors and first aid men were sent to all surrounding towns.

The explosion which wrecked the mine was terrific, according to officials of the mine, and they expressed a belief that it would be almost impossible for any of the 350 men to have escaped with their lives.

A rescue crew was dispatched immediately by the bureau of mines from Derry, Pa., close to the scene of the disaster, and other crews were being formed at Pittsburgh and other nearby towns.

Johnstown, Pa., March 30.—With 350 men still entombed at 1:30 o'clock today in mine No. 3 of the Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Co. at Ehrenfeld, 15 miles east of here, fears were entertained that at least two hundred and fifty were in the area of an explosion that wrecked the drift mine at 12:30 o'clock today.

No one had come out of the mine at 1:30 P. M. and officials could not tell the extent of the explosion. Houses hundreds of yards away, however, were knocked off supporting props, the mine office was wrecked, and the explosion was felt for miles around.

At the Cresson office of the company it was said that in lack of definite information the hope was held that 300 men have escaped the explosion and may be rescued.

No one had entered the mine at 1:45 P. M., pending arrival of mine rescue teams from Johnstown and elsewhere. Johnstown hospitals sent ambulances, doctors and nurses. The Johnstown chapter of the Red Cross sent four nurses and two first aid teams and towns from the many mining centers of Cambria county have sent aid of all kinds.

The mine is a drift operation, normally employing between 500 and 600 men but has not been working full capacity. Safety lamps were used and officials are at a loss to account for the explosion.

At 2:30 it was reported several men had escaped by way of air shaft from section No. 18, but that they knew nothing of the fate of their fellows.

Pittsburgh, March 30.—A representative of the National Casket Co., returning to Ehrenfeld from the scene of the mine explosion near Johnstown, Pa., which trapped 350 men, telephoned the United Press late this afternoon that probably all except five of the imprisoned men would be rescued alive.

The informant, A. W. Marks, said that many miners were emerging from the pits, most of them uninjured.

33 MEN ESCAPED; 5 TAKEN OUT DEAD

Johnstown, Pa., March 30. — Of 350 men trapped in No. 3 drift mine of the Pennsylvania Coal & & Coke Corporation at Ehrenfeld in an explosion at 12:30 o'clock today, rescuers at 3 P. M. reported 30 had escaped from No. 13 right heading; three walked out of the main entry and hopes were entertained that the death toll would not be so large as at first feared. Five were taken out dead shortly before 3 P. M.

Sheets of flame issued from the two haulage-ways, housing the motor transportation system. One trip of empty cars had gone in and another loaded train had come out only a moment before the let-go. Neither motorman had been found at 2:30 and none could give explanation of the explosion.

The mine was partly gaseous, the miners using safety lamps. Dozens of mine rescue teams are on the

PLOT FOILED TO DYNAMITE A COUNTY JAIL

Mount Vernon, Ill., March 30.—(UP)—A plot to dynamite the Jefferson county jail here was disclosed today by Sheriff Harold Smith.

The plotters, according to Smith, were Frank Isaacs, Edward Jolly and Wallace Parrish, West Frankfort youths now on trial for the murder of Harold Baker during a holdup.

An unsigned letter, supposedly written by the three boys, outlined a plan to blow up the jail and give them a chance at freedom.

An effort to smuggle the letter out of jail to Harry Isaacs, brother of Frank, was unsuccessful.

EXPLOSION IN COAL MINE KILLS 8 MEN

GAS POCKET TOUCHED OFF BY MINER'S LAMP BELIEVED CAUSE

ACCIDENT HAPPENS AT MINE IN THE HARRISBURG, ILL., AREA

Harrisburg, Ill., March 30.—(UP)—An explosion at the Saline County Coal Corporation mine number 2, near here, today, is believed to have killed eight men and injured several others.

A gas pocket between 15 and 18 feet from the face of the entry is thought to have been touched off by a miner's lamp.

Two men, Audie Lynch and Roscoe Nebo, shift workers, were hurled 15 feet by the force of the blast. Each was severely injured.

The eight men believed to have been killed were closer to the explosion than Lynch and Nebo and have not yet been reached by rescue crews.

The men still in the mine are Joe Toth, William Filber, Claude Lynch, George Ambrock, Cecil Reynolds, Lee Morris, Simon Simaitis and Peter Dorris.

Every physician and available nurse in Harrisburg was hurried to the scene of the explosion. A rescue team from Eldorado was on its way.

The eight unrecovered men are between the mine bottom and the place where the explosion occurred.

MEXICAN-AMERICAN DIFFICULTIES ARE AGGRAVATED TODAY

Washington, March 30—(UP)—Mexican-American differences were aggravated today, though not necessarily to a critical point, by Mexican bandit kidnaping of Edgar Morris Wilkins and his 18 year old son, both American citizens.

Consul D. G. Dwyer had notified the state department the son was released and sent to Guadalajara and Mexican authorities, pursuing the captors of the father, had clashed with bandits who escaped.

The pursuit is continuing and state department advices indicate the authorities are prosecuting the search with all vigor.

Washington, March 30.—(UP)—The state department today instructed American Ambassador Sheffield to make an "urgent request to the Mexican government that appropriate steps be taken" for the release of Edgar Morris Wilkins of Savannah, Ga., captured by bandits near Guadalajara, March 27.

SPARE THE ROD PLEA NOT UPHELD IN ALEXANDRIA, VA.

Alexandria, Va., March 30.—(UP)—Teachers in this city who wield the rod on unruly pupils were upheld by Judge William Snow, who cleared Mrs. Cora Kelley, public school teacher, of charges that she had excessively whipped a pupil.

"For the purpose of correction," Snow ruled, "the teacher represents the parent. It is a settled rule of common law that in such cases a teacher stands in the place of a parent."

HIGH WATER DOES DAMAGE IN ARKANSAS

LEVEES AT MANY PLACES IN AREA, LACONIA DELTA, GIVE WAY

LET MISSISSIPPI RIVER INTO THOUSANDS OF ACRES OF CROP LAND

Little Rock, Ark., March 30. — (UP)—Swallowed up by a wall of muddy water, a dozen small towns of Desha county, Arkansas, today were almost completely inundated, while frantic efforts are being made by workmen along the Mississippi river front to prevent further floods.

Levees at a half dozen villages in the area—known as Laconia Delta—were reported here to have given way late last night, letting the river into thousands of acres of crop land.

Danger warnings broadcast since 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon gave residents of the area time to flee with the most of their movable goods, it was reported, and no deaths had occurred. Some livestock was lost when the water swept over the land.

Residents of the area are being provided for in homes out of the flood district and in nearly four hundred box cars at Snow Lake.

The Mississippi has been rising for some time, fed by northern rains and yesterday afternoon reached a 50-foot stage at Knowlton. The levee there was one of the first to go out.

Henrico, Laconia and Knowlton are thought to have suffered greatest damage. The two are in marshy ground and were among the first to be affected by the waters. The total population of the three villages is less than a thousand, however, and the damage is therefore comparatively small.

Property and crop damage will be excessive. Thousands of acres of fertile land in the county is inundated and many head of livestock was believed drowned.

Efforts to strengthen the levees began late yesterday afternoon when several hundred workmen gathered at the weakened spots. Several places were saved by rapid work and today further gangs are continuing work in other threatened places.

Families began arriving in Snow Lake, Deerfield, Loray and other towns along the Missouri Pacific railroad yesterday in droves, carrying with them what few personal belongings could be gathered on short notice. The groups of refugees were herded into what shelter was available to wait receding of the water.

The river was rampant today, but it is believed from reports here that the crest has been reached and it is hoped that the greatest damage has been done. The water should begin to fall today, it was said.

RED CROSS ORDERS ADDITIONAL RELIEF

Washington, March 30.—The Red Cross has ordered additional relief units to the flood region at Knowlton, Ark., where Mississippi river levee breaks are reported. T. R. Buchanan, assistant national director of disaster relief for the Red Cross, was enroute today to superintend operations at Natchez, Miss., and vicinity.

SEEK TO RESTRAIN FLIRTATIOUS MAN BY COURT ACTION

Flint, Mich., March 30.—(UP)—Rather than experiment further with spanking and locked rooms, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Harvey, living on a farm several miles south of here, have turned to the circuit court to stop Dan Cupid's antics with their pretty 15-year-old daughter, Daisy.

Dan Orton, of Linden, is named in an injunction restraining him from intruding in any manner upon the girl. Orton, according to Harvey, is a married man.

SOBS OF 4 HUNGRY CHILDREN BRING SORROW TO 3 HOMES

Chicago, March 30.—(UP)—The sobs of four hungry children brought sorrow today to three homes on Chicago's west side.

Joseph Clemente, 45, was driven mad by despondency last evening when he found his children suffering from lack of food. He had lost his job as a laborer and blamed his employers for the suffering of his family.

And so Clemente sought revenge. He approached John Palumbo, 39, a construction foreman, and when he was refused the job he had lost he shot Palumbo three times, killing him almost instantly.

Then the crazed father went to the home of John Prete, another construction foreman for whom he had worked. Prete was listening to the evening prayers of his children when Clemente entered and shot him to death.

A police squad, touring the west side in search of the killer, came upon him hiding under a wagon in a yard. He held police away for nearly an hour before they killed him with rifle fire.

Three mothers were made widows and eleven children were made fatherless by the tragedies.

ALBANIA IS MOBILIZING, AGES 22 TO 33

TERROR REIGNS IN COUNTRY, SAYS DISPATCH FROM BELGRADE

CLAIMED THAT ITALIAN WAR MATERIAL UNLOADED AT VALONA

Berlin, March 30.—(UP)—A dispatch from Belgrade to the Zeitung Am Mittag today quoted Hasilius Calucci, former Albanian governor of Valona, as saying that the male population of Albania between the ages of 22 and 33 had been mobilized, and that terror reigned in the country.

Calucci is an opponent of President Ahmed Zogu of Albania. He said he had been imprisoned at Tirana by Zogu because he opposed the president's pro-Italian policies, but that he had escaped. Italian war material, Calucci said, had been unloaded at Valona and Durazzo. He charged that Zogu had received a large sum from Italy for signing the treaty of Tirana, which was said to have given Italy a virtual protectorate over Albania.

REPORTS OF MOVE TO MERGE MANY CANNING COMPANIES

St. Cloud, Minn., March 30.—(UP)—Reports of a movement to merge canning companies in Minnesota were in more reliable form today.

The J. E. Barr packing corporation announced definitely that a vote on the proposed consolidation is to be taken by stockholders of that concern Thursday night.

J. E. Barr, head of the St. Cloud corporation, has been in the Twin Cities during the past two weeks. According to reports he has been working in the interests of a consolidation of state canneries.

A member of the firm is reported to have stated that the stockholders will most likely approve the proposed consolidation.

STARTS 48 HOURS AHEAD OF TIME SET

MANY QUIT, SEEKING TO FIND NEW EMPLOYMENT IN RESPECTIVE COMMUNITIES

TOMORROW AT MIDNIGHT ABOUT 150,000 MINERS WILL DROP THEIR TOOLS

By GERALD P. OVERTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Indianapolis, March 30. — The walkout of union coal miners in the bituminous fields of the middle west started today, nearly 48 hours in advance of the general walkout set for midnight tomorrow.

Reports reaching here indicated many miners, especially in the southern Illinois field, decided to quit their jobs in advance of the zero hour in order to find new employment in their respective communities.

Tomorrow at midnight approximately 150,000 miners will drop their tools because of the refusal of the operators to renew the present wage scale which calls for $7.50 a day. The mine operators insist they cannot continue operation in competition with non-union mnes which are able to hire workers at $4.40 to $5 a day.

The walkout is expected to be effected without disorders ad no trouble is anticipated unless the shutdown should be prolonged.

Kansas City, Mo., March 30—With expiration of the present wage contract only two days off, coal mine operators of Kansas, Missouri and Arkansas will begin arriving here today for a third conference with miners' representatives tomorrow.

The wage parley has been recessed twice since it began more than two weeks ago, each time in a deadlock.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 30—The momentary hope of preventing a shut down of bituminous mines in the central competitive field raised by the union offer to negotiate ... grate district contracts was vanishing today.

With the existing wage agreement expirng at midnight tomorrow, operators were standing firm in their demand for a reduction in the union scale. No move has been made by the operators to accept the proposal of the international policy committee of the United Mine Workers for district negotiations.

Brazil, Ind., March 30.—The Big Bend Coal Company, with an annual output of 200,000 tons of block coal, today signed up with officials of District No. 8, United Mine Workers, to continue operations under the old scale until a general settlement is effected. The Big Bend company is the largest producer in the block coal fields of Indiana.

Officers of District No. 8 will meet here tomorrow, as other companies have indicated a willingness to continue work under the present scale. The operators of District No. 8, a small district in west central Indiana, pursued a similar policy of continuing work pending settlement during the wage crisis of 1922.

Springfield, March 30—Approximately 30 bituminous coal operators, including those affiliated with the Illinois Coal Operators' Association and independent operators have completed agreements with the Illinois mine workers to continue operations after midnight Thursday, Harry Fishwick, president of District 12, United Mine Workers of America, announced.

The list of mines to operate is incomplete. The United Electric Co. mine at Danville, was the only one specifically named among those to operate, and the remainder were in all parts of the state, a majority being in the northern part of the state, Fishwick said.

St. Paul, March 30—The Merchants State Bank of Virginia closed its doors today, A. J. Veigel, state commissioner of banking, announced, following a run that depleted its reserves. It had $50,000 deposits.

COWBOY SAVES LIFE OF BABY FROM FLAMES

Denver Colo., March 30.—(UP)—Saving a three year old baby from the flames in a hotel fire may cost the life of William Stockwell, a jobless and almost penniless cowboy.

The fire started when a coal oil stove in Stockwell's room exploded. Flames spread to the hallway and and for a time threatened the entire floor. Stockwell, his clothing afire, had fled out of range of the flames and was beating out his burning clothes when he heard the cries of the baby. He ran back into the flame filled hallway and found Charlotte Tambert in a room where she had been left alone by her parents.

After carrying her to safety he collapsed.

BOTH BRANCHES OF LEGISLATURE STRIP FOR ACTION

HOUSE MET AS A COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE TUESDAY NIGHT

ADVANCED 14 BILLS FROM GENERAL ORDERS TO THE CALENDAR

St. Paul, March 30.—(UP)—Both branches of the Minnesota legislature are stripping for action.

The house met as a committee of the whole Tuesday night and advanced 14 bills from general orders to the calendar. Another night session probably will be held Friday.

The senate had its decks cleared today when it plunged into consideration of a long list of measures which were on general orders.

The crush in the senate was so great that it was feared only bills on special orders would be considered.

A garnishment bill was among those which the house advanced to its calendar. The measure would provide a 60 per cent exemption of garnishment on wages for heads of families and 30 per cent for others.

Encouragement for unification is given in a bill that would permit two or more corporations, not banks, railroads or trust companies, to merge.

House measures passed Tuesday included:

Reciprocation of the privilege allowing truck operators to operate trucks in another state without having other than the license of his own state.

Providing that any dentist would be prohibited from dividing a fee with any other dentists.

For inspecting nursery stock and isolating dangerous plants.

The house refused to grant itself an increase in mileage allowance by turning down a bill to sanction three extra trips home for each other and a fee of five cents a mile each way.

BANDITS RAID BANK AND GET $10,000 LOOT

Gleason, Tenn., March 30.—(UP)—Bandits held up the bank of Gleason near here early today and escaped with $10,000 loot. Methods used by the robbers led authorities to believe they were the same band that has perpetrated several recent holdups in the state.

FEDERAL AGENTS CONFISCATE AN ALCOHOL STILL

St. Paul, March 30.—(UP)—Federal agents who raided a farm south of St. Paul late Tuesday arrested two men and confiscated an alcohol distillery.

Six 150-gallon stills connected in series and complete equipment for redistilling body rub alcohol were seized. In addition, the agents found parts of a moonshining outfit, 500 gallons of body rub alcohol and 400 gallons of redistilled alcohol.

The men arrested were Julius Dehrer, said to be the owner of the farm, and Harry Gordon, of St. Paul, alleged "cooker."

RIFLES FIRE ON 2 FOREIGN-OWNED RIVER BOATS

MORE BARBED WIRE BARRICADES AT FRENCH AREA AT SHANGHAI

NATIONALISTS TAKE OVER CONTROL OF FOREIGN OWNED BUILDINGS, CHINGKIANG

By H. FRANCIS MISSELWITZ
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Shanghai, March 30—(5:20 P. M.)—Five hundred rifle shots were fired at two foreign-owned river boats at Nanking last night, but the vessels escaped without damage and today were en route down the Yangtze river toward Shanghai under escort of the U. S. Paul Jones. The vessels were the Lungwo and Tatung, which left Nanking for Chingkiang.

Barbed wire barricades today were ordered erected along Avenue Edward VII which divides the French concessions from the international settlement, because of an incident last night, during which Chinese mobs milled around the gates to the concession. An iron gate was removed from its hinges and stolen by the Chinese.

Authorities said the erection of additional barbed wire defenses between the concession and the settlement did not indicate any doubt of the French intentions. Americans living in the concession have been removing to the settlement and the exodus continued today.

There are 1,700 French troops available for the defense of the 12-mile portion of the concession circumference where it abuts on Chinese territory, but a large portion of the troops are natives from French colonies.

Nationalist authorities today took over control of foreign-owned buildings at Chingkiang. Two Japanese and one French national remained at Hangchow and D. R. Claud and H. Barlow, Baptists, are the only missionaries remaining at Ningpo.

Extremist influence seemed to be spreading at Shanghai today and the ability of Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek, Cantonese commander-in-chief, to control his own party was likely to be put to a severe test. Labor was restless and rikisha coolies as well as municipal employes rapidly were being unionized.

With danger to foreigners in the Yangtze valley regarded as growing constantly greater, many Americans were reported today to be refusing to leave their posts to take refuge in the Shanghai foreign settlement. Foreign authorities strongly intimated that foreigners refusing to heed warnings to flee could expect little protection.

The U. S. S. Ford fought a brisk engagement with Chinese above Woosung. The Ford was fired on and returned the fire with machine guns and four-inch guns, silencing the native force.

The U. S. S. Preston was sent to Chefoo in response to reports from U. S. consul there that the situation was becoming worse.

To the Hankow Chamber of Commerce, which requested more protection as the situation there became tense, foreign authorities replied, "evacuate."

It was authoritatively estimated that 100 American missionaries in the interior were refusing to leave their churches, despite radio warnings broadcast by the consul general.

Dr. Taylor, an American, and his wife and family refused to evacuate Nanking, and several unnamed American and Spanish missionaries also were reported to be remaining there.

For the most part, however, the work of evacuation continued rapidly Forty-seven American and British citizens were taken aboard the steamer Hulbert at Nanking. The ship headed for Kiukiang, intending to transfer the refugees to the first down-river steamer it met.

The U. S. Pillsbury took four American women and two men aboard at Nantungchow, and was standing by awaiting arrival of two more from a post 30 miles inland. The situation at Nantungchow was quiet, the ship reported.

Aroused by continued sniping at British warships on the Yangtze, the British naval commander-in-chief at Shanghai ordered his ships to use their guns whenever they were fired on, and to inflict severe punishment

Berlin, March 30.—(UP)—A dispatch from Belgrade to the Zeitung Am Mittag today quoted Hasilius Calucci, former Albanian governor of Valona, as saying that the male population of Albania between the ages of 22 and 33 had been mobilized, and that terror reigned in the country.

Calucci is an opponent of President Ahmed Zogu of Albania. He said he had been imprisoned at Tirana by Zogu because he opposed the president's pro-Italian policies, but that he had escaped. Italian war material, Calucci said, had been unloaded at Valona and Durazzo. He charged that Zogu had received a large sum from Italy for signing the treaty of Tirana, which was said to have given Italy a virtual protectorate over Albania.

REPORTS OF MOVE TO MERGE MANY CANNING COMPANIES

St. Cloud, Minn., March 30.—(UP)—Reports of a movement to merge canning companies in Minnesota were in more reliable form today.

The J. E. Barr packing corporation announced definitely that a vote on the proposed consolidation is to be taken by stockholders of that concern Thursday night.

J. E. Barr, head of the St. Cloud corporation, has been in the Twin Cities during the past two weeks. According to reports he has been working in the interests of a consolidation of state canneries.

A member of the firm is reported to have stated that the stockholders will most likely approve the proposed consolidation.

OUR DAILY QUAKE REPORT— CORDOVA, ALASKA

Cordova, Alaska, March 30.—(UP)—An earthquake of about five seconds duration shook buildings at the U. S. naval radio station here during the night. No damage had been reported today.

STARTS 48 HOURS AHEAD OF TIME SET

MANY QUIT, SEEKING TO FIND NEW EMPLOYMENT IN RESPECTIVE COMMUNITIES

TOMORROW AT MIDNIGHT ABOUT 150,000 MINERS WILL DROP THEIR TOOLS

By GERALD P. OVERTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Indianapolis, March 30. — The walkout of union coal miners in the bituminous fields of the middle west started today, nearly 48 hours in advance of the general walkout set for midnight tomorrow.

Reports reaching here indicated many miners, especially in the southern Illinois field, decided to quit their jobs in advance of the zero hour in order to find new employment in their respective communities.

Tomorrow at midnight approximately 150,000 miners will drop their tools because of the refusal of the operators to renew the present wage scale which calls for $7.50 a day. The mine operators insist they cannot continue operation in competition with non-union mnes which are able to hire workers at $4.40 to $5 a day.

The walkout is expected to be effected without disorders ad no trouble is anticipated unless the shutdown should be prolonged.

Kansas City, Mo., March 30—With expiration of the present wage contract only two days off, coal mine operators of Kansas, Missouri and Arkansas will begin arriving here today for a third conference with miners' representatives tomorrow.

The wage parley has been recessed twice since it began more than two weeks ago, each time in a deadlock.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 30—The momentary hope of preventing a shut down of bituminous mines in the central competitive field raised by the union offer to negotiate ... grate district contracts was vanishing today.

With the existing wage agreement expirng at midnight tomorrow, operators were standing firm in their demand for a reduction in the union scale. No move has been made by the operators to accept the proposal of the international policy committee of the United Mine Workers for district negotiations.

Brazil, Ind., March 30.—The Big Bend Coal Company, with an annual output of 200,000 tons of block coal, today signed up with officials of District No. 8, United Mine Workers, to continue operations under the old scale until a general settlement is effected. The Big Bend company is the largest producer in the block coal fields of Indiana.

Officers of District No. 8 will meet here tomorrow, as other companies have indicated a willingness to continue work under the present scale. The operators of District No. 8, a small district in west central Indiana, pursued a similar policy of continuing work pending settlement during the wage crisis of 1922.

Springfield, March 30—Approximately 30 bituminous coal operators, including those affiliated with the Illinois Coal Operators' Association and independent operators have completed agreements with the Illinois mine workers to continue operations after midnight Thursday, Harry Fishwick, president of District 12, United Mine Workers of America, announced.

The list of mines to operate is incomplete. The United Electric Co. mine at Danville, was the only one specifically named among those to operate, and the remainder were in all parts of the state, a majority being in the northern part of the state, Fishwick said.

St. Paul, March 30—The Merchants State Bank of Virginia closed its doors today, A. J. Veigel, state commissioner of banking, announced, following a run that depleted its reserves. It had $50,000 deposits.

COWBOY SAVES LIFE OF BABY FROM FLAMES

Denver Colo., March 30.—(UP)—Saving a three year old baby from the flames in a hotel fire may cost the life of William Stockwell, a jobless and almost penniless cowboy.

The fire started when a coal oil stove in Stockwell's room exploded. Flames spread to the hallway and and for a time threatened the entire floor. Stockwell, his clothing afire, had fled out of range of the flames and was beating out his burning clothes when he heard the cries of the baby. He ran back into the flame filled hallway and found Charlotte Tambert in a room where she had been left alone by her parents.

After carrying her to safety he collapsed.

BOTH BRANCHES OF LEGISLATURE STRIP FOR ACTION

HOUSE MET AS A COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE TUESDAY NIGHT

ADVANCED 14 BILLS FROM GENERAL ORDERS TO THE CALENDAR

St. Paul, March 30.—(UP)—Both branches of the Minnesota legislature are stripping for action.

The house met as a committee of the whole Tuesday night and advanced 14 bills from general orders to the calendar. Another night session probably will be held Friday.

The senate had its decks cleared today when it plunged into consideration of a long list of measures which were on general orders.

The crush in the senate was so great that it was feared only bills on special orders would be considered.

A garnishment bill was among those which the house advanced to its calendar. The measure would provide a 60 per cent exemption of garnishment on wages for heads of families and 30 per cent for others.

Encouragement for unification is given in a bill that would permit two or more corporations, not banks, railroads or trust companies, to merge.

House measures passed Tuesday included:

Reciprocation of the privilege allowing truck operators to operate trucks in another state without having other than the license of his own state.

Providing that any dentist would be prohibited from dividing a fee with any other dentists.

For inspecting nursery stock and isolating dangerous plants.

The house refused to grant itself an increase in mileage allowance by turning down a bill to sanction three extra trips home for each other and a fee of five cents a mile each way.

BANDITS RAID BANK AND GET $10,000 LOOT

Gleason, Tenn., March 30.—(UP)—Bandits held up the bank of Gleason near here early today and escaped with $10,000 loot. Methods used by the robbers led authorities to believe they were the same band that has perpetrated several recent holdups in the state.

FEDERAL AGENTS CONFISCATE AN ALCOHOL STILL

St. Paul, March 30. (UP)—Federal agents who raided a farm south of St. Paul late Tuesday arrested two men and confiscated an alcohol distillery.

Six 150-gallon stills connected in series and complete equipment for redistilling body rub alcohol were seized. In addition, the agents found parts of a moonshining outfit, 500 gallons of body rub alcohol and 400 gallons of redistilled alcohol.

The men arrested were Julius Dehrer, said to be the owner of the farm, and Harry Gordon, of St. Paul, alleged "cooker."

RIFLES FIRE ON 2 FOREIGN-OWNED RIVER BOATS

MORE BARBED WIRE BARRICADES AT FRENCH AREA AT SHANGHAI

NATIONALISTS TAKE OVER CONTROL OF FOREIGN OWNED BUILDINGS, CHINGKIANG

By H. FRANCIS MISSELWITZ
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Shanghai, March 30—(5:20 P. M.)—Five hundred rifle shots were fired at two foreign-owned river boats at Nanking last night, but the vessels escaped without damage and today were en route down the Yangtze river toward Shanghai under escort of the U. S. Paul Jones. The vessels were the Lungwo and Tatung, which left Nanking for Chingkiang.

Barbed wire barricades today were ordered erected along Avenue Edward VII which divides the French concessions from the international settlement, because of an incident last night, during which Chinese mobs milled around the gates to the concession. An iron gate was removed from its hinges and stolen by the Chinese.

Authorities said the erection of additional barbed wire defenses between the concession and the settlement did not indicate any doubt of the French intentions. Americans living in the concession have been removing to the settlement and the exodus continued today.

There are 1,700 French troops available for the defense of the 12-mile portion of the concession circumference where it abuts on Chinese territory, but a large portion of the troops are natives from French colonies.

Nationalist authorities today took over control of foreign-owned buildings at Chingkiang. Two Japanese and one French national remained at Hangchow and D. R. Claud and H. Barlow, Baptists, are the only missionaries remaining at Ningpo.

Extremist influence seemed to be spreading at Shanghai today and the ability of Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek, Cantonese commander-in-chief, to control his own party was likely to be put to a severe test. Labor was restless and rikisha coolies as well as municipal employes rapidly were being unionized.

With danger to foreigners in the Yangtze valley regarded as growing constantly greater, many Americans were reported today to be refusing to leave their posts to take refuge in the Shanghai foreign settlement. Foreign authorities strongly intimated that foreigners refusing to heed warnings to flee could expect little protection.

The U. S. S. Ford fought a brisk engagement with Chinese above Woosung. The Ford was fired on and returned the fire with machine guns and four-inch guns, silencing the native force.

The U. S. S. Preston was sent to Chefoo in response to reports from U. S. consul there that the situation was becoming worse.

To the Hankow Chamber of Commerce, which requested more protection as the situation there became tense, foreign authorities replied, "evacuate."

It was authoritatively estimated that 100 American missionaries in the interior were refusing to leave their churches, despite radio warnings broadcast by the consul general.

Dr. Taylor, an American, and his wife and family refused to evacuate Nanking, and several unnamed American and Spanish missionaries also were reported to be remaining there.

For the most part, however, the work of evacuation continued rapidly Forty-seven American and British citizens were taken aboard the steamer Hulbert at Nanking. The ship headed for Kiukiang, intending to transfer the refugees to the first down-river steamer it met.

The U. S. Pillsbury took four American women and two men aboard at Nantungchow, and was standing by awaiting arrival of two more from a post 30 miles inland. The situation at Nantungchow was quiet, the ship reported.

Aroused by continued sniping at British warships on the Yangtze, the British naval commander-in-chief at Shanghai ordered his ships to use their guns whenever they were fired on, and to inflict severe punishment

INTERLAKE SHIPPING MAY START WITHIN NEXT TWO WEEKS

Duluth, Minn., March 30.—(UP)—Continued favorable weather conditions will see the opening of the interlake shipping season within two weeks.

An ice field that has blocked the entrance to Duluth harbor all winter is being carried out into Lake Superior by the first warm west wind of the season. Harbor ice has been broken up to such an extent that it no longer offers hindrance to movement of vessels.

On the heels of the ice pack movement, a small fishing boat cleared the port, bound for Two Harbors.

"NOT A KICK IN A MILLION FEET"

Most people think of lumber as "just lumber," precisely as they think of coal as "just coal."
Different Lumber for Different Uses
Get the Right Kind for Your Use
The man who has studied the subject of coal will very quickly tell you that some coals are immensely more valuable than others, even when they look alike, for the simple reason that some coals contain a greater amount of heat units than others. In the same way, the man who knows about lumber can very quickly explain to you why some lumbers are more valuable and more adaptable than other lumbers for certain uses, even though the average observer would never detect any difference between the two.
Not only is this true as between species of woods, but it is equally true as between grades of lumber of the same species of wood.
We know lumber. We know grades. And we are here to see that you get the necessary information and satisfactory service from the lumber that you buy—that what you get is properly adapted to the use to which you will put it so as to render you the greatest value and the greatest economy.

COL. DE PINEDO TO ENJOY HOSPITALITY OF NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, La., March 30.—(UP)—Commander Francesco de Pinedo, daring Italian aviator, who arrived here yesterday after crossing three continents, will enjoy New Orleans hospitality for a day or two before continuing his voyage.

Minor repairs will be made on his machine and a final inspection is not expected until late tomorrow or Friday. A mechanic familiar with the Italian motor has been summoned.

When the machine is pronounced in condition to continue, de Pinedo will head for the Pacific coast and back to several cities in the United States and Canada before returning home.

De Pinedo was feted by New Orleans Italians today and tonight will be the guest of honor at a banquet.

INTERLAKE SHIPPING MAY START WITHIN NEXT TWO WEEKS

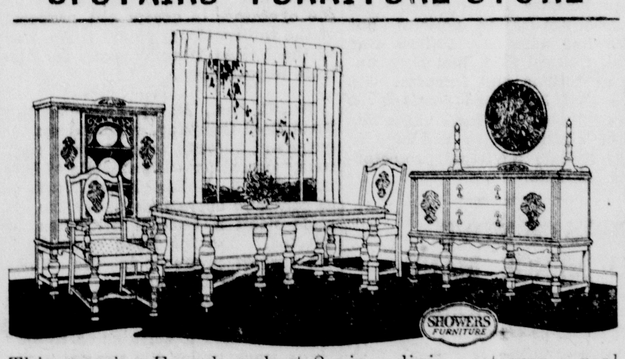

Duluth, Minn., March 30.—(UP)—Continued favorable weather conditions will see the opening of the interlake shipping season within two weeks.

An ice field that has blocked the entrance to Duluth harbor all winter is being carried out into Lake Superior by the first warm west wind of the season. Harbor ice has been broken up to such an extent that it no longer offers hindrance to movement of vessels.

On the heels of the ice pack movement, a small fishing boat cleared the port, bound for Two Harbors.

"NOT A KICK IN A MILLION FEET"

Most people think of lumber as "just lumber," precisely as they think of coal as "just coal."

Different Lumber for Different Uses Get the Right Kind for Your Use

The man who has studied the subject of coal will very quickly tell you that some coals are immensely more valuable than others, even when they look alike, for the simple reason that some coals contain a greater amount of heat units than others. In the same way, the man who knows about lumber can very quickly explain to you why some lumbers are more valuable and more adaptable than other lumbers for certain uses, even though the average observer would never detect any difference between the two.

Not only is this true as between species of woods, but it is equally true as between grades of lumber of the same species of wood.

We know lumber. We know grades. And we are here to see that you get the necessary information and satisfactory service from the lumber that you buy—that what you get is properly adapted to the use to which you will put it so as to render you the greatest value and the greatest economy.

FEDERAL RADIO COMMISSION REGULATES AIR

TAKES UP TRAFFIC ON EXISTING 96 CHANNELS OF THE AIR

SEEKS EXPERT ADVICE ON HOW FAR WAVE LENGTHS SHOULD BE SEPARATED

By WILLIAM J. McEVOY
United Press Staff Correspondent

Washington, March 30—The Federal Radio commission turned its attention today to regulation of traffic on the existing 96 channels of the air.

The commission sought the advice of experts on how far wave lengths should be separated to prevent interference in reception.

In the light of views of all branches of the industry, the commission will probably turn a deaf ear to demands for widening of the broadcasting band, it was intimated. Discussion on this subject yesterday failed to produce a single backer of the proposal.

Broadcasters, engineers, manufacturers and amateurs gave ominous warnings of the results that would follow extension of the band below 200 meters and above 500 meters. This extension, it is claimed, would provide additional air channels for new stations.

Broadcasters and manufacturers claim the public is satisfied with existing stations and does not want any more established. Engineers agree receiving sets now on the market could not pick up stations operating below 200 meters. Those operating above 550 meters, they claim, would interfere with SOS calls from distressed ships. Extension below 200 meters would drive out amateurs, spokesmen for this group claim.

While considering the question of the space between wave lengths, the commission also had before it a proposal by E. A. Beane, commerce department supervisor for the Chicago district, for elimination of interference.

By a simple readjustment of the frequencies of stations, Beane insists, interference will vanish.

CHARGED WITH STEALING PRODUCTS OF CREAMERY

St. Paul, March 30.—(UP)—Thomas Thoreson, St. Paul, was arrested today, accused of being the fourth member of a gang that is accused of stealing $10,000 worth of butter and other creamery products in three months. Thoreson is declared to have been the "fence" to whom the stolen dairy products were sold.

SAYS HOLLYWOOD IS IN A RUT

Paris, March 30.—(UP)—Hollywood is in a rut, Maurice Tourneur, who directed Mary Pickford in "The Poor Little Rich Girl" and Gilda Gray in "Aloma of the South Seas" announced on his arrival here from America to direct "L'Equipage", a war picture.

"I'm tired of happy endings," Touneur said, confessing he was bored with Hollywood's staleness. "I prefer logical endings, whether they be death, divorce or marriage."

American movies would be better off without stars, whose salaries are out of proportion with their values, he added.

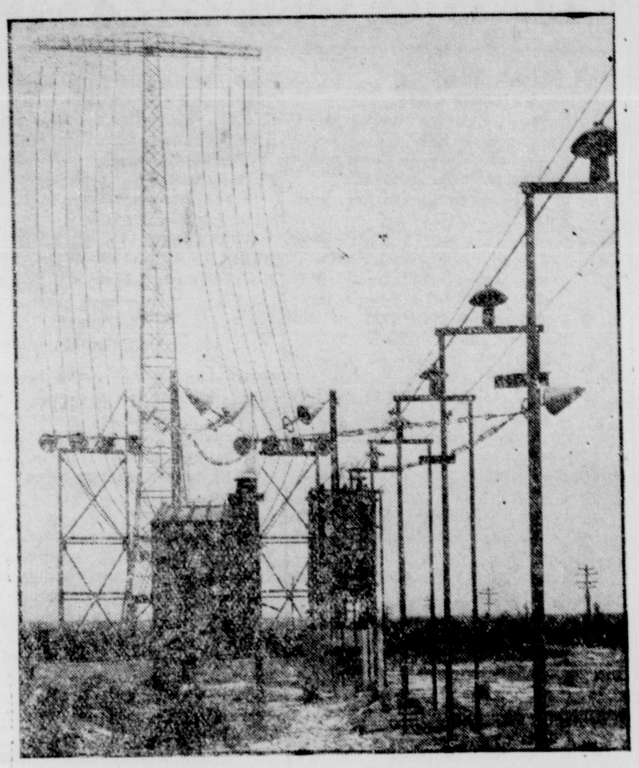

Brig. Gen. Rhinow Contemplates Changes In His Department

St. Paul, March 30.—(UP)—Brig. Gen. Walter F. Rhinow, northwest prohibition administrator, said today that several changes will be made in his office on April 1.

"A number of agents will be released, but they will be replaced by men passing the civil service examinations now necessary," he said.

General Rhnow admitted he has chosen a successor to A. A. Stone, North Dakota director, who has resigned. The successor's name will not be announced for several days, however.

Transatlantic Radio Telephone Uses Antenna 1 1/3 Miles Long

Here is one of the six towers that support the huge antenna of the Rocky Point, L. I., sending station in the transatlantic radio telephone system. The radio waves carrying voices of Americans to the British are shot into the air from this antenna. The large object at the left is a copper house containing one of the large tuning coils. The six towers of the antenna are spaced 1,250 feet apart, covering a total length of 1 1/3 miles.

Transatlantic radio telephone service between New York and London was opened on January 7. At first the service was available just to persons in New York and London metropolitan areas, but recently the service was extended to include all of the United States, and all of England, Scotland, and Wales.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

March 28, 1902

Henry White, brother of C. B. and I. U. White of this city who has for the past two years held a position as store keeper on the Buffalo, Rochester and Western railroad, at Bradford, Pa., has resigned on account of poor health and will return to Brainerd with his family shortly. He expects to reside at Gull Lake during the summer.

The institution of the new lodge of Elks at Little Falls will occur on April 15th. Brainerd, St. Cloud, St. Paul, Minneapolis, and Stillwater will send delegations to take part in the ceremonies and a red hot time may be expected.

Miss Annie Johnson entertained a party of friends at the residence of W. A .Fleming last evening. The evening was spent in cards and games. Luncheon was served.

Mrs. T. J. Hartley and son Jack are visiting friends in Aitkin.

Attorney A. D. Polk returned from Aitkin this afternoon where he has been on business.

A board of examiners composed of Master Mechanic S. L. Bean, Roadmaster Hessemer, and Road Foreman Lincoln is in session this week examining firemen who are looking for promotion. There are upwards of 18 firemen who are looking for promotion and the examination will be extended over several days.

Henry White, brother of C. B. and I. U. White of this city who has for the past two years held a position as store keeper on the Buffalo, Rochester and Western railroad, at Bradford, Pa., has resigned on account of poor health and will return to Brainerd with his family shortly. He expects to reside at Gull Lake during the summer.

The institution of the new lodge of Elks at Little Falls will occur on April 15th. Brainerd, St. Cloud, St. Paul, Minneapolis, and Stillwater will send delegations to take part in the ceremonies and a red hot time may be expected.

Miss Annie Johnson entertained a party of friends at the residence of W. A .Fleming last evening. The evening was spent in cards and games. Luncheon was served.

Mrs. T. J. Hartley and son Jack are visiting friends in Aitkin.

Attorney A. D. Polk returned from Aitkin this afternoon where he has been on business.

A board of examiners composed of Master Mechanic S. L. Bean, Roadmaster Hessemer, and Road Foreman Lincoln is in session this week examining firemen who are looking for promotion. There are upwards of 18 firemen who are looking for promotion and the examination will be extended over several days.

Passing It Along

Madge—Are you going to return the poor fellow's ring?

Marie (who has broken her engagement)—I suppose he'll propose to you now, and I thought I'd just hand it over to you to save the bother.

Her Mistake

Lois—You're really very good looking, but why don't you take off your goggles? I want to see what kind of eyes you have.

Harry—Who, me? I ain't got any goggles on.

Now Everything's Fine

Ruth—You didn't make any horrid bets, did you?

Bob—I'm not that extravagant, dear. I just let the other fellows make bets with me.

A Lap Hound

Porter—Lapdog! What do you mean by that? Why, the dog is as big as a mule!

Fair Passenger—Well, you ought to see him lap up milk!

Pat, employed in a local quarry, one day dropped a stick of dynamite and forthwith disappeared into the clouds with several tons of debris. The catastrophe was witnessed by Mike, who, somewhat later was approached by the quarry owner.

"Where's Pat?" asked the latter.

"Gone," replied Mike.

"And when will he be back?"

"Well," said Mike, "if he comes back as fast as he went—bedad, he'll be back yisterday!"

Rather Clumsy

Hubby—Oh, wife! I've been promoted to boss in the office.

Wifey—Yes, in the office maybe.

Rotarians

A young lady pupil at the Gotham Normal school took notice of one of the little wheel-like ventilators that had been set in one of the windows of a house she was passing.

She gazed at it with some interest.

"Huh!" she finally concluded, "those folks there must be Rotarians."

ADVANCE PUBLICITY ON TAX MEASURES

THE DISPATCH is in receipt of a letter from J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association, whose headquarters are in Minneapolis. Mr. Reed writes that the Minnesota Taxpayers Association is vitally interested in H. F. No. 1195, because it is a step in the right direction to give the taxpayers advance publicity on all proposals to spend public money for local purposes, whether it be by a direct tax levy or by a bond issue.

Mr. Reed believes that business methods will control in local governments if this bill, better known as the Minnesota Plan for Reviewing Public Expenditures, is enacted into law.

The bill recognizes the disadvantages in which the taxpayer now finds himself in attempting to analyze government costs and form intelligent judgment thereon. To remedy this a comprehensive but simple system of budget procedure and hearings are set up which permits the taxpayer to consider and discuss the purposes for which public money will be spent prior to raising the money. Taxes will then be levied and bonds issued in conformity with these budgets, and the expenditure being restricted to budget items. This procedure will give the public a much needed opportunity to follow the trend of public expenditures and their value.

In case the local hearings on the proposed tax levies or bond issues indicate that the action of the governing body in establishing the amounts of the levy or bond issue is unnecessarily large for any reason, 1 per cent of the voters who are freeholders may petition for a review by the State Tax Commission who are known as the Board of Review. Upon the filing of this petition a hearing in the localities affected is had by the Board of Review, at which evidence on both sides would be presented.

The Board of Review then files a decision which, if it conforms to the action of the local governing body, is final, unless it be a bond issue in a locality in which a vote of the people is required to issue bonds, in which case such vote is had. If the decision of the Board of Review does not conform to the action of the local governing body, then the governing body must reconsider their former action. If, upon this reconsideration, it is decided to conform to the Board of Review's decision, that action is final. However, if the governing body decides not to conform to the decision of the Board of Review, that decision is still final unless a petition signed by 10 per cent of the voters who are freeholders is filed asking for a referendum vote of the voters in the district on the question of whether the local governing body's decision or that of the Board of Review shall prevail.

In no case does the Board of Review get jurisdiction without a petition from the district affected and its decision is always finally reviewable by a referendum vote of that district.

The Minnesota Taxpayers Association has found throughout the state a need for a better procedure in the consideration of public expenditures and for that reason are urging the consideration of this bill. Rather than infringing upon home rule, this bill would insure more intelligent home rule, says Mr. Reed.

The entire procedure of this bill conforms to the best established practices in private and public business. Estimating the needs of a business for the coming fiscal year, and establishing appropriation allowances in accordance with that budget as well as a review of the money to be spent by an authority other than those who spend it, is accepted in business practice.

CROSBY SHOULD HAVE TWO PRECINCTS

THE town of Crosby, near neighbor of Brainerd, has the same situation that presented itself in wards of Brainerd where the total vote cast at a precinct far exceeded the total set by law and thus caused judges and clerks delay in compiling election returns.

As quoted from an article in the Crosby Courier, the recent village election recorded 1,008 votes cast.

With this large vote out, the question again arises as to whether it would not be wise for the Crosby city fathers to create two voting precincts in order to relieve such a congested condition as took place at the spring election.

Closing the polls, as has been done each year heretofore, at 5 o'clock makes it inconvenient for a great number of Crosby voters who work at the mines, to get to the polls in time to vote. Each year about 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon those voters who labor at the mines begin to reach the polls.

This year, as the time for closing drew near, the line of voters reached twice across the hall. No little inconvenience was caused the voters as well as the election board.

The question of two voting places has been talked of in the years past but nothing has been done to relieve the situation. It has been suggested that a polling place be secured in Lakeview and that the fire hall could be used for another.

Crosby has certainly outgrown its one voting place and it is to be hoped that the village fathers will take the necessary steps before another year rolls around to create at least one more voting precinct, says the Crosby Courier in conclusion.

Crosby's abnormal registration in its only precinct not only delays computation of the election vote in the village, but holds up election totals in a state or national election. In sending reports to news agencies, the total vote of a precinct is the requirement. No estimates or partial votes are desired. With judges and clerks doing their utmost in Crosby, laboring in one precinct, it is impossible to count the thousand votes with as much dispatch as can be accorded voting in smaller precincts.

THE Southern Minnesota Baseball League has been organized. Each club will be limited to four outside players and all players with the exception of pitchers must be paid on a day rate. Salary limits for outside men are: pitchers $35, catchers $20 and others $15. Salary limit of $175 per game will be established.

SOMEBODY said the other day that the girls are better looking than ever. Well, says the Pequot Review, we do see more of them.

So far, in this Schall hearing, we have heard but one side of the case. We wonder what the cross-examination will bring forth.

SOME days the news seem to center on two things, the Chinese situation and the Schall investigation.

AN optimistic spirit pervades the range towns where the Croft mine has been reopened.

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, poor college student, working as a dancing partner for rich women, falls in love with Sally Smith, a cigarette girl. She warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the roadhouse, who finds her "thrill" in "hunting" Bob, who, however, trusts her. She offers him free use of her secret apartment. Bob quarrels with Sally over the offer, and leaves in a huff to go to Mrs. Hammond. Repenting, he returns to Sally's house, only to find she has gone to a wild party with Mannion, a rival.

At certain frequent intervals these more or less undraped living statues came magically to life, and displayed very good form as waitresses.

Mazie and her intimates of the regal circle of queen gold-diggers were the accredited dancing partners for the twelve best clubmen. But at more oft-recurring moments, as the party grew mellower and into a more friendly and informal mood, one or more of the twelve best clubmen would bubble over with uncontrollable democracy and playfulness, and grab one of the statues for a few frivolous steps.

Mazie, who was a most tolerant person where the idiosyncrasies of the twelve best bluebloods were concerned, would restore order invariably with her quaint and engaging little manner of prying the gay clubman loose from the coy statue, and saying, "Be yourself, J. Van Pierpont, or Mazie spank!" Should the exuberant member of the Twelve persist in his boyishness, Mazie would grow austere, and declare, "Another wise crack out of you, Mr. Sub-Treasury, and I'll pitch you out the window!"

"I never expected to meet a girl like you at Mazie's party!"

After which the party proceeded hilariously, the ruffled statue rearranged her seventh and only remaining veil, and Mazie returned her solicitous attention to her other guests, notably Sally and Tom Mannion.

Poor little Sally Smith, for all her bird of paradise finery, had remained a timid canary, obviously out of her normal flight in this New York apartment aviary. Madame Leonine and Mazie, no doubt a bit conscience-stricken under their flinty shells for their part in helping to stack the cards against her, had tried their best to make her feel at home. But to no avail. She clung, affrighted, to Tom's arm; somewhat to that young man's annoyance, for he was itching to wander around a bit, and mix his dances with the statues.

But more than by any spirit of contrition, Mazie was actuated in her kindliness toward Sally by an astute realization of the impression the girl's virginal prettiness was making on the twelve best clubmen: in particular, on the best of the twelve best clubmen.

"Gosh, kid," Mazie found a chance to breathe into Sally's ear during an intermission in the revelry, "you've knocked old Arlington Aldrich cock-eyed. He's my latest all-day sucker, too; so I ought to be jealous, but I ain't. We cigarette girls, ex- and present, must stick together. Say, you know who Arlington Aldrich is, don't you?"

Sally nodded, wide-eyed, too scared to speak. Who, in fact, did not know who the great Arlington Aldrich was? The international banker, of a long line of bankers, whose financial house was the rock upon which the world's whole capitalistic structure was built—and a man so remote that he never submitted to newspaper interviews. Yet, here he was, in the flesh, at Mazie Revere's wild party! Sally's little combed-honey head swam with the marvel of it; and with the terrifying realization that he had been staring at her almost ever since she had arrived; staring good-humoredly, but with pointed interest.

"Of course, you do," said Mazie. "Well, he wants a special introduction to you. Get that, dearie? Ain't a girl in this country tonight but whose heart would jump up against her back teeth to have HIM ask to meet her!"

Sally could not answer as to how other girls' hearts would bump. But for her own part she was suffering a most decided knocking together of her dimpled little knees as she saw the great financier approaching.

"Arlington, meet my little friend, Miss Sally Smith. She's about the only cutie you'll ever meet here who won't ask you for a diamond bracelet a minute after she's said, 'Pleased to meet you!'"

Mazie laughed loudly at her own frank joke. As Mazie always did!

Arlington Aldrich, Esquire, refrained from giving his usual appreciative chuckle at Mazie's witticism. For Arlington Aldrich, at the imperious snap of whose finger the mints and vaults of all nations would open and reveal their stored bullion to his cold gaze, was thinking that he had never seen, could never hope to see, riches to compare with the golden wealth of little Sally Smith's hair, the blue treasure of her eyes.

Mazie marched Tom Mannion off to a gayer coterie in a corner.

Sally found herself, all of a flutter, and moving as one in an incredulous dream—from which she might expect to awaken any moment and learn that she had fallen out of bed—sauntering off to the roof garden conservatory of Mazie's top floor apartment, guided by the firm, strong hand that could sign a check for a nation's ransom without making a blot.

Found herself, presently, seated across a tiny wicker table from the great financier, while a living statue, temporarily not statuing, served them iced drinks in tall, thin tumblers.

Still in a daze, hardly knowing what she was doing, Sally mechanically raised her glass, against which Aldrich clinked his, and sipped the beverage. It was a sweetish, confusing drink. It burned her throat, gave her the sniffles, and made her feel suddenly warm. The lights and the murmuring night noises of Bagdad-on-the-Taxicab, twenty stories below, grew remoter.

Aldrich's face, big and hazy, like those grotesque close-ups in the movies where they wanted to register something fearsome, was moving over the table towards her. His lips were forming words that seemed to come out of the air, some place high above.

"I never expected to meet a girl like you at Mazie's party!" he declared.

"Oh, dear," remarked Sally quite irrelevantly, blinking at the indistinct face in front of her, "I don't think I should have taken that drink!"

"By jove," said the Big Face, which was curiously changing into moving panoramas of three, six and nine faces, "I really believe you've never had a drink before. This is no place for you," he laughed, in a way which meant that it was just the right place for her so long as he was there. "Why did you take that drink then, Miss?"

"Because," said Sally in her naive honesty, "I thought you wanted me to!"

Aldrich chuckled—the kind of a chuckle that sounds a warning in virtuous ears, even when the owner of the ears may be a bit beclouded. His faces gradually focused down to one face again as his eyes feasted upon the pure and lovely countenance and form of little Sally Smith. He leaned even closer, as he asked, with an overtone of amusement, and an undertone of intense eagerness.

"I wonder if you'd be quite as willing to do anything I asked you to do, little girl?"

Aldrich was not a man accustomed to the need of sounding out any human being, any girl especially, as to their readiness to humor his desires. He had always known full well that the magic of his name and financial power made every man eager to be his sycophant, every woman eager to be his darling. However, here was one woman about whom he could not feel any such assurance. The phenomenon interested, even thrilled him. She was such an altogether desirable little vixen, too! This fresh beauty, this unspoiled likeness to a flower, this innocence—Jove! she was worth a room full of Mazies!

It was drowsy and nice out here, and Sally felt that this great man's interest in her imposed upon her an unusual responsibility to be polite.

"Of course," she stated, a little thickly, but primly polite, "I'd try to do anything you wanted me to do, Mr. Aldrich."

ADVANCE PUBLICITY ON TAX MEASURES

THE DISPATCH is in receipt of a letter from J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association, whose headquarters are in Minneapolis. Mr. Reed writes that the Minnesota Taxpayers Association is vitally interested in H. F. No. 1195, because it is a step in the right direction to give the taxpayers advance publicity on all proposals to spend public money for local purposes, whether it be by a direct tax levy or by a bond issue.

Mr. Reed believes that business methods will control in local governments if this bill, better known as the Minnesota Plan for Reviewing Public Expenditures, is enacted into law.

The bill recognizes the disadvantages in which the taxpayer now finds himself in attempting to analyze government costs and form intelligent judgment thereon. To remedy this a comprehensive but simple system of budget procedure and hearings are set up which permits the taxpayer to consider and discuss the purposes for which public money will be spent prior to raising the money. Taxes will then be levied and bonds issued in conformity with these budgets, and the expenditure being restricted to budget items. This procedure will give the public a much needed opportunity to follow the trend of public expenditures and their value.

In case the local hearings on the proposed tax levies or bond issues indicate that the action of the governing body in establishing the amounts of the levy or bond issue is unnecessarily large for any reason, 1 per cent of the voters who are freeholders may petition for a review by the State Tax Commission who are known as the Board of Review. Upon the filing of this petition a hearing in the localities affected is had by the Board of Review, at which evidence on both sides would be presented.

The Board of Review then files a decision which, if it conforms to the action of the local governing body, is final, unless it be a bond issue in a locality in which a vote of the people is required to issue bonds, in which case such vote is had. If the decision of the Board of Review does not conform to the action of the local governing body, then the governing body must reconsider their former action. If, upon this reconsideration, it is decided to conform to the Board of Review's decision, that action is final. However, if the governing body decides not to conform to the decision of the Board of Review, that decision is still final unless a petition signed by 10 per cent of the voters who are freeholders is filed asking for a referendum vote of the voters in the district on the question of whether the local governing body's decision or that of the Board of Review shall prevail.

In no case does the Board of Review get jurisdiction without a petition from the district affected and its decision is always finally reviewable by a referendum vote of that district.

The Minnesota Taxpayers Association has found throughout the state a need for a better procedure in the consideration of public expenditures and for that reason are urging the consideration of this bill. Rather than infringing upon home rule, this bill would insure more intelligent home rule, says Mr. Reed.

The entire procedure of this bill conforms to the best established practices in private and public business. Estimating the needs of a business for the coming fiscal year, and establishing appropriation allowances in accordance with that budget as well as a review of the money to be spent by an authority other than those who spend it, is accepted in business practice.

CROSBY SHOULD HAVE TWO PRECINCTS

THE town of Crosby, near neighbor of Brainerd, has the same situation that presented itself in wards of Brainerd where the total vote cast at a precinct far exceeded the total set by law and thus caused judges and clerks delay in compiling election returns.

As quoted from an article in the Crosby Courier, the recent village election recorded 1,008 votes cast.

With this large vote out, the question again arises as to whether it would not be wise for the Crosby city fathers to create two voting precincts in order to relieve such a congested condition as took place at the spring election.

Closing the polls, as has been done each year heretofore, at 5 o'clock makes it inconvenient for a great number of Crosby voters who work at the mines, to get to the polls in time to vote. Each year about 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon those voters who labor at the mines begin to reach the polls.

This year, as the time for closing drew near, the line of voters reached twice across the hall. No little inconvenience was caused the voters as well as the election board.

The question of two voting places has been talked of in the years past but nothing has been done to relieve the situation. It has been suggested that a polling place be secured in Lakeview and that the fire hall could be used for another.

Crosby has certainly outgrown its one voting place and it is to be hoped that the village fathers will take the necessary steps before another year rolls around to create at least one more voting precinct, says the Crosby Courier in conclusion.

Crosby's abnormal registration in its only precinct not only delays computation of the election vote in the village, but holds up election totals in a state or national election. In sending reports to news agencies, the total vote of a precinct is the requirement. No estimates or partial votes are desired. With judges and clerks doing their utmost in Crosby, laboring in one precinct, it is impossible to count the thousand votes with as much dispatch as can be accorded voting in smaller precincts.

THE Southern Minnesota Baseball League has been organized. Each club will be limited to four outside players and all players with the exception of pitchers must be paid on a day rate. Salary limits for outside men are: pitchers $35, catchers $20 and others $15. Salary limit of $175 per game will be established.

SOMEBODY said the other day that the girls are better looking than ever. Well, says the Pequot Review, we do see more of them.

SO far, in this Schall hearing, we have heard but one side of the case. We wonder what the cross-examination will bring forth.

SOME days the news seem to center on two things, the Chinese situation and the Schall investigation.

Mazie and her intimates of the regal circle of queen gold-diggers were the accredited dancing partners for the twelve best clubmen. But at more oft-recurring moments, as the party grew mellower and into a more friendly and informal mood, one or more of the twelve best clubmen would bubble over with uncontrollable democracy and playfulness, and grab one of the statues for a few frivolous steps.

Mazie, who was a most tolerant person where the idiosyncrasies of the twelve best bluebloods were concerned, would restore order invariably with her quaint and engaging little manner of prying the gay clubman loose from the coy statue, and saying, "Be yourself, J. Van Pierpont, or Mazie spank!" Should the exuberant member of the Twelve persist in his boyishness, Mazie would grow austere, and declare, "Another wise crack out of you, Mr. Sub-Treasury, and I'll pitch you out the window!"

"I never expected to meet a girl like you at Mazie's party!"

After which the party proceeded hilariously, the ruffled statue rearranged her seventh and only remaining veil, and Mazie returned her solicitous attention to her other guests, notably Sally and Tom Mannion.

Poor little Sally Smith, for all her bird of paradise finery, had remained a timid canary, obviously out of her normal flight in this New York apartment aviary. Madame Leonine and Mazie, no doubt a bit conscience-stricken under their flinty shells for their part in helping to stack the cards against her, had tried their best to make her feel at home. But to no avail. She clung, affrighted, to Tom's arm; somewhat to that young man's annoyance, for he was itching to wander around a bit, and mix his dances with the statues.

But more than by any spirit of contrition, Mazie was actuated in her kindliness toward Sally by an astute realization of the impression the girl's virginal prettiness was making on the twelve best clubmen: in particular, on the best of the twelve best clubmen.

"Gosh, kid," Mazie found a chance to breathe into Sally's ear during an intermission in the revelry, "you've knocked old Arlington Aldrich cock-eyed. He's my latest all-day sucker, too; so I ought to be jealous, but I ain't. We cigarette girls, ex- and present, must stick together. Say, you know who Arlington Aldrich is, don't you?"

Sally nodded, wide-eyed, too scared to speak. Who, in fact, did not know who the great Arlington Aldrich was? The international banker, of a long line of bankers, whose financial house was the rock upon which the world's whole capitalistic structure was built—and a man so remote that he never submitted to newspaper interviews. Yet, here he was, in the flesh, at Mazie Revere's wild party! Sally's little combed-honey head swam with the marvel of it; and with the terrifying realization that he had been staring at her almost ever since she had arrived; staring good-humoredly, but with pointed interest.

"Of course, you do," said Mazie. "Well, he wants a special introduction to you. Get that, dearie? Ain't a girl in this country tonight but whose heart would jump up against her back teeth to have HIM ask to meet her!"

Sally could not answer as to how other girls' hearts would bump. But for her own part she was suffering a most decided knocking together of her dimpled little knees as she saw the great financier approaching.

"Arlington, meet my little friend, Miss Sally Smith. She's about the only cutie you'll ever meet here who won't ask you for a diamond bracelet a minute after she's said, 'Pleased to meet you!'"

Mazie laughed loudly at her own frank joke. As Mazie always did!

Arlington Aldrich, Esquire, refrained from giving his usual appreciative chuckle at Mazie's witticism. For Arlington Aldrich, at the imperious snap of whose finger the mints and vaults of all nations would open and reveal their stored bullion to his cold gaze, was thinking that he had never seen, could never hope to see, riches to compare with the golden wealth of little Sally Smith's hair, the blue treasure of her eyes.

Mazie marched Tom Mannion off to a gayer coterie in a corner.

Sally found herself, all of a flutter, and moving as one in an incredulous dream—from which she might expect to awaken any moment and learn that she had fallen out of bed—sauntering off to the roof garden conservatory of Mazie's top floor apartment, guided by the firm, strong hand that could sign a check for a nation's ransom without making a blot.

Found herself, presently, seated across a tiny wicker table from the great financier, while a living statue, temporarily not statuing, served them iced drinks in tall, thin tumblers.

Still in a daze, hardly knowing what she was doing, Sally mechanically raised her glass, against which Aldrich clinked his, and sipped the beverage. It was a sweetish, confusing drink. It burned her throat, gave her the sniffles, and made her feel suddenly warm. The lights and the murmuring night noises of Bagdad-on-the-Taxicab, twenty stories below, grew remoter.

Aldrich's face, big and hazy, like those grotesque close-ups in the movies where they wanted to register something fearsome, was moving over the table towards her. His lips were forming words that seemed to come out of the air, some place high above.

"I never expected to meet a girl like you at Mazie's party!" he declared.

"Oh, dear," remarked Sally quite irrelevantly, blinking at the indistinct face in front of her, "I don't think I should have taken that drink!"

"By jove," said the Big Face, which was curiously changing into moving panoramas of three, six and nine faces, "I really believe you've never had a drink before. This is no place for you," he laughed, in a way which meant that it was just the right place for her so long as he was there. "Why did you take that drink then, Miss?"

"Because," said Sally in her naive honesty, "I thought you wanted me to!"

Aldrich chuckled—the kind of a chuckle that sounds a warning in virtuous ears, even when the owner of the ears may be a bit beclouded. His faces gradually focused down to one face again as his eyes feasted upon the pure and lovely countenance and form of little Sally Smith. He leaned even closer, as he asked, with an overtone of amusement, and an undertone of intense eagerness.

"I wonder if you'd be quite as willing to do anything I asked you to do, little girl?"

Aldrich was not a man accustomed to the need of sounding out any human being, any girl especially, as to their readiness to humor his desires. He had always known full well that the magic of his name and financial power made every man eager to be his sycophant, every woman eager to be his darling. However, here was one woman about whom he could not feel any such assurance. The phenomenon interested, even thrilled him. She was such an altogether desirable little vixen, too! This fresh beauty, this unspoiled likeness to a flower, this innocence—Jove! she was worth a room full of Mazies!

It was drowsy and nice out here, and Sally felt that this great man's interest in her imposed upon her an unusual responsibility to be polite.

"Of course," she stated, a little thickly, but primly polite, "I'd try to do anything you wanted me to do, Mr. Aldrich."

Girls in Japan are from a very early age systematically instructed in physical exercise, with the result that at maturity they are almost as strong as the men. It is not an unusual sight to see a company of young girls, who are strolling along a country road, step back a few yards for headway, and then, following a leader, all nimbly clear a 5-foot fence by leaping over it.

CINCINNATI'S CHANCES FOR THE PENNANT

FIRST RATED AS PRACTICALLY NOTHING WHEN RACE STARTED IN 1926

CLUB CAME WITHIN 3 GAMES OF WINNING PENNANT FROM CARDINALS

This is the fourth of a series on the pennant chances of the major league ball clubs for 1927.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, March 30. — Cincinnati's chances for the national league championship were rated at practically nothing when the race started in 1926 but the club came within three games of winning the pennant from the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Reds were not an impressive club last year because of a vital infield weakness that was not corrected until late season.

Since the club finished ahead of the stronger looking New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates, it evidently had power not observed on the surface and for that reason it is sure to be a factor in the coming championship race.

Several changes have been made in the personnel of the club during the winter layoff. The most important was the result of a trade which sent Eddie Roush to the New York Giants for George Kelly.

Roush is rated as perhaps the best center fielder in the national league but his services may not prove so indispensable. It is no secret that he was not on the best of terms with the manager of the club and with other players on the team.

Some loose fielding on the club's last invasion of the east last season caused some of the players to charge him with the loss of two ball games in Boston and the loss of the pennant.

In exchange for Roush the Reds obtained in Kelly the best all around player in the league. There isn't any particular place for him on the club, however.

Kelly primarily is a first baseman but Wally Pipp is a good campaigner and hardly can be benched. Kelly can play second base and the outfield but he is not a championship ball player in either position.

Hugh Critz, rated as the greatest fielding second baseman in baseball, hasn't reported to the club and he insists that he will not until he gets more salary. His game is of such importance to the defensive strength of the club that he probably will get close to what he wants.

In Charley Dressen, Babe Pinelli, Horace Ford, Wally Pipp and Clarke Pittinger, the Reds have competent men on each side of second base but Critz would work better in the combination than Kelly.

The difficulties the club is having with Adolfo Luque, veteran Cuban pitcher, also make it hard to estimate the real strength of the team. Although the management contends that Luque is not on the market, there are reasons to believe that he may not be with the team when the championship season starts and so far there is no way to figure what pitcher the team might get in a trade for him.

The catching staff, headed by Bubbles Hargrave, national league champion batter, is strong on the defense and the offense and even without Luque, the throwing staff can't be figured weak with Pete Donohue, Carl Mays, Eppa Rixey, Art Nehf and Jakey May.

Rutgers Loses Star

Joe Preletz of Bethlehem, Pa., one of the best all-around athletes in the sophomore class at Rutgers, will be unable to engage in any form of sport for the remainder of the college year. Preletz, fullback on the varsity football team, received a knee injury during the gridiron season which was aggravated recently when he attempted to play basket ball.

Flowers' Manager Digs Up Ring Find in Tampa

Walk Miller, manager of Tiger Flowers and Young Stribling, says he has discovered a promising heavyweight boxing prospect "with world's championship reach and feet."

The young giant is a Tampa negro longshoreman named Roy Clark, nineteen years old, and weighs 245 pounds. Clark wears 15½ shoes and his huge arms extended stretch 87½ inches. Miller said he had never been able to get a pair of padded mitts big enough to permit the fighter to close his fists.

Due to his size, Clark has had but a few matches, but he has won them all by knockouts.

Clark is being developed in training matches with Flowers and Stribling, preparatory to a challenge to some of the lesser heavyweight contenders.

President Little Would Have Two Varsity Teams

Two varsity teams for each Big Ten school, with one eleven playing out of town and the other meeting a team from the same school at home on the same day, is proposed by President Clarence C. Little of the University of Michigan.

Under the plan one Michigan varsity team, for example, would play at Minnesota the same day that a Minnesota varsity team played at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Doctor Little holds that a change in the present system is imperative. Two varsity teams would offer greater football opportunity for a large number of students, and the same coaching staff would handle both teams.

WASHINGTON AND LOWELL COME OUT AS WINNERS

WASHINGTON OUTCLASSES WHITTIER TO WIN FIRST GAME, 18-4

LINCOLN LOSES CLOSE GAME TO LOWELL BY 6-4 IN GRADE SCHOOL BASKETBALL

The Washington and the Lowell won their games in the grade school basketball tournament yesterday afternoon at the Brainerd high school before a packed assemblage of students.

In the first game the Washington school outclassed the Whittier school by the score of 18 to 4. For the Washington grades, Halvorson scored two field goals, two free throws; Hay, three field goals, one free throw and Hotchkiss, two field goals, and one free throw, while for the Whittier school, White was the lone scorer, tallying one field goal and two free throws.

The teams lined up as follows:

Washington—Halvorson, Hay, forwards; Hotchkiss, center; Armstrong and Ginsberg, guards; sub, Davis.

Whittier—White, Clarkson, forwards; Trommald, center; Peterson, Brown, guards; sub, Bouma.

In the second game which was the more exciting of the two, the Lowell came out winners by the score of 6 to 4. Stanley of the Lowell team played a beautiful guard game, being responsible for the saving of many field goals.

The line-ups follow:

Lowell—Marshall and Mayo, forwards; Rasch, center; Stanley and Wolleat, guards.

Lincoln — Patterson, Nordstrom, forwards; Schuetty, center; Cross, Kreger, guards.

Referee—DeRocher.

Fly-Fishing Outfit Well Worthy of Proper Care

A good fly-fishing outfit will cost in the neighborhood of $100, but unless one intends to take care of it, it is hardly worth while buying, says Field and Stream. Never allow a ferrule on your rod to get loose. There is every chance in the world the rod will break if you do. Keep a rod well varnished always. The strips of cane are held together by glue, not by the silk wrappings. When the varnish wears off a rod, the water is very liable to loosen the glue. Don't use a rod with any of the guides off; they distribute the strain along the rod and are an essential part of it. Dry the rod before putting it away.

PARI-MUTUEL BETTING SYSTEM

SENATE EXPECTED TO FOLLOW HOUSE ACTION AND APPROVE MEASURE

St. Paul, March 30.—(UP)—The senate is expected to follow the action of the house and approve the bill to legalize use of the pari-mutuel system of betting in Minnesota. The house voted 71 to 47 in favor.

Rep. J. E. Odegard, of Clear Lake, was the only representative whose opposition to the bill moved him to debate against it. He declared he was against legalizing gambling in the state as he asserted the bill would do.

A horse racing commission of three members, licensing of horse racing and payment to the state of five per cent of money placed in pari-mutuel machines are among provisions of the bill.

Springfield, Ill., March 30.—Clear sailing for the Illinois pari-mutuel betting bill was seen by race enthusiasts today following a 17 to 2 committee vote in favor of the measure in the lower house of the legislature.

Machine betting is legalized under the act with the exception that minors are prohibited from wagering.

It is estimated the state will profit to the extent of $700,000 annually through operation of the machines at county fairs.

FIGHTER GETS HIS PURSE SHARE AFTER LAPSE OF 3 YEARS

Hartford, Conn., March 30.—(UP)—The Connecticut senate today passed a bill directing the state treasurer to pay $2,392 to the state athletic commissioner to be paid "Pal" Moran, New Orleans junior lightweight boxer.

Moran fought Kid Kaplan in New Haven three years ago, the referee stopping the fight when he claimed Moran was not trying. The bill restores to him his share of the purse.

These wives of ours!

We took them from the shelter of their families, gave them two or three rooms and a share of our salary—then left them sitting there among the wedding presents, a bit bewildered.

But they knew how—these wives of ours. They knew how to make rooms into homes, and how to get more merchandise out of a dollar bill than we ever could. We're lucky to have wives. How do they do it?

Look through this paper, day after day. You will find advertisements covering almost every human need. They are filled with hints for the household, hints for health, hints for clothing, hints for keeping young. They are virtually little essays on life. No wonder these wives of ours follow them so carefully. As one wise wife said: "It isn't so much that I know housekeeping so well. I know where to learn it!"

Most advertising is prepared especially for women. Read it. It forms an authoritative textbook on good housekeeping.

Chicago, March 30—London, Kentucky's basketball team won a second round contest from Safford high, Safford, Ariz., in the National Interscholastic Basketball Tourney at the University of Chicago here today. The score was 29 to 20.

The Huron, S. D., high school team defeated Lincoln, Neb., 25 to 16, in another second round game. The Lincoln team broke meet scoring records yesterday by defeating Alpine, Tenn., 71 to 9.

Grand Forks, N. D., won a second round game by defeating Ridgefield, N. J., 28-20.

Eau Claire, Wis., defeated Athens, Texas, 19 to 17, in another second round game.

The Roswell, N. M., high school basketball team defeated the Fort Fairfield, Maine, quintet, 20 to 13, in a second round contest. Both teams drew byes in the first round.

MISS GLENNA COLLETT TO MEET MISS VAN WIE

Pinehurst, N. C., March 30.—(UP)—Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, R. I., thrice north and south champion and former holder of the national woman's title, will meet Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, today in the match to decide the 1927 championship of the north and south woman's golf tournament.

In the semi-finals yesterday Miss Collett defeated Miss Edith Quier of Reading, Pa., 2 and 2. Miss Van Wie won from Mrs. E. H. Baker, Jr., of Belmont, Mass., 5 and 3.

LANGNER, YALE SWIMMING STAR, MAKES NEW RECORD

New Haven, March 30.—(UP)—G. H. Langner, Yale swimming star, made a new American record of 21:17 for 1,500 meters free style last night. J. A. House made a new intercollegiate record of 2:45 3-5 for 220-yards backstroke and F. M. Rickman set a new intercollegiate mark of 6:45 2-5 for 440-yard breast stroke.

FIGHT RESULTS

Chicago—Joey Thomas, St. Paul, won a decision over Tiger Jack Burns, California, in an eight round bantamweight match here.

New York—Ruby Goldstein, New York lightweight, knocked out Pete Petrolle, Fargo, in 45 seconds of the first round. Blas Rodriguez, Mexican flyweight, won a six round decision from Joey Ross, Hoboken.

Los Angeles—Leo Lomski, Aberdeen middleweight, won a 10-round decision from Joe Anderson, Kenucky. George Godfrey, negro heavyweight, knocked out Tony Fuente, Mexico, in the second round.

Kansas City—Jackie Kane, Denver welterweight, and Larry Cappo, Kansas City, fought a 10-round draw.

Atlanta — Tiger Flowers, former middleweight champion, knocked out George Jones in the first round.

Albany—Danny Cooney won a 12-round decision from Mickey Cangro. Patsy Marto won a 10-round decision from Charlie Eck.

Fresno, Cal.—Phil Verde of Rochester, N. Y., and Hollywood, Cal., won a referee's decision over Billy Bonillas, Modesto bantamweight, in a 10-round bout. Verde won five rounds and Bonillas two.

San Francisco—Tommy Celio, San Francisco lightweight, won an unofficial decision over Eddie "Kid" Wagner of Philadelphia in 10 rounds. Spectators thought Wagner earned a draw decision.

MAJOR SEAGRAVE, RACING MOTORIST, BREAKING RECORDS

London, March 30.—(UP)—Major H. O. D. Seagrave, English racing motorist, broke another record when within 30 minutes of driving his 1,000 horse power Sunbeam at more than 200 miles an hour at Daytona, Fla., yesterday, he personally telephoned the story of his feat to the Evening News here.

"My job is finished," Seagrave said. "I won and proved what I came over here to prove—namely, that I could drive 200 miles an hour. Now I shall return home."

Mrs. Seagrave talked to her husband during the trans-Atlantic connection.

SALE OF HORNSBY STOCK IN ST. LOUIS CLUB DISCUSSED

New York, March 30.—(UP)—Sale or transfer of the stock which Rogers Hornsby holds in the St. Louis club will be discussed tomorrow in Chattanooga by John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, Hornsby and his attorney.

McGraw made a hurried trip here for a consultation with Charles Stoneham, president of the club, about Hornsby stock and the Roush holdout case. He said he hoped both cases would be settled satisfactorily.

CINCINNATI'S CHANCES FOR THE PENNANT

FIRST RATED AS PRACTICALLY NOTHING WHEN RACE STARTED IN 1926

CLUB CAME WITHIN 3 GAMES OF WINNING PENNANT FROM CARDINALS

This is the fourth of a series on the pennant chances of the major league ball clubs for 1927.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, March 30. — Cincinnati's chances for the national league championship were rated at practically nothing when the race started in 1926 but the club came within three games of winning the pennant from the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Reds were not an impressive club last year because of a vital infield weakness that was not corrected until late season.

Since the club finished ahead of the stronger looking New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates, it evidently had power not observed on the surface and for that reason it is sure to be a factor in the coming championship race.

Several changes have been made in the personnel of the club during the winter layoff. The most important was the result of a trade which sent Eddie Roush to the New York Giants for George Kelly.

Roush is rated as perhaps the best center fielder in the national league but his services may not prove so indispensible. It is no secret that he was not on the best of terms with the manager of the club and with other players on the team.

Some loose fielding on the club's last invasion of the east last season caused some of the players to charge him with the loss of two ball games in Boston and the loss of the pennant.

In exchange for Roush the Reds obtained in Kelly the best all around player in the league. There isn't any particular place for him on the club, however.

Kelly primarily is a first baseman but Wally Pipp is a good campaigner and hardly can be benched. Kelly can play second base and the outfield but he is not a championship ball player in either position.

Hugh Critz, rated as the greatest fielding second baseman in baseball, hasn't reported to the club and he insists that he will not until he gets more salary. His game is of such importance to the defensive strength of the club that he probably will get close to what he wants.

In Charley Dressen, Babe Pinelli, Horace Ford, Wally Pipp and Clarke Pittinger, the Reds have competent men on each side of second base but Critz would work better in the combination than Kelly.

The difficulties the club is having with Adolfo Luque, veteran Cuban pitcher, also make it hard to estimate the real strength of the team. Although the management contends that Luque is not on the market, there are reasons to believe that he may not be with the team when the championship season starts and so far there is no way to figure what pitcher the team might get in a trade for him.

The catching staff, headed by Bubbles Hargrave, national league champion batter, is strong on the defense and the offense and even without Luque, the throwing staff can't be figured weak with Pete Donohue, Carl Mays, Eppa Rixey, Art Nehf and Jakey May.

Rutgers Loses Star

Joe Preletz of Bethlehem, Pa., one of the best all-around athletes in the sophomore class at Rutgers, will be unable to engage in any form of sport for the remainder of the college year. Preletz, fullback on the varsity football team, received a knee injury during the gridiron season which was aggravated recently when he attempted to play basket ball.

Flowers' Manager Digs Up Ring Find in Tampa

Walk Miller, manager of Tiger Flowers and Young Stribling, says he has discovered a promising heavyweight boxing prospect "with world's championship reach and feet."

The young giant is a Tampa negro longshoreman named Roy Clark, nineteen years old, and weighs 245 pounds. Clark wears 15½ shoes and his huge arms extended stretch 87½ inches. Miller said he had never been able to get a pair of padded mitts big enough to permit the fighter to close his fists.

Due to his size, Clark has had but a few matches, but he has won them all by knockouts.

Clark is being developed in training matches with Flowers and Stribling, preparatory to a challenge to some of the lesser heavyweight contenders.

President Little Would Have Two Varsity Teams

Two varsity teams for each Big Ten school, with one eleven playing out of town and the other meeting a team from the same school at home on the same day, is proposed by President Clarence C. Little of the University of Michigan.

Under the plan one Michigan varsity team, for example, would play at Minnesota the same day that a Minnesota varsity team played at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Doctor Little holds that a change in the present system is imperative. Two varsity teams would offer greater football opportunity for a large number of students, and the same coaching staff would handle both teams.

WASHINGTON AND LOWELL COME OUT AS WINNERS

WASHINGTON OUTCLASSES WHITTIER TO WIN FIRST GAME, 18-4

LINCOLN LOSES CLOSE GAME TO LOWELL BY 6-4 IN GRADE SCHOOL BASKETBALL

The Washington and the Lowell won their games in the grade school basketball tournament yesterday afternoon at the Brainerd high school before a packed assemblage of students.

In the first game the Washington school outclassed the Whittier school by the score of 18 to 4. For the Washington grades, Halvorson scored two field goals, two free throws; Hay, three field goals, one free throw and Hotchkiss, two field goals, and one free throw, while for the Whittier school, White was the lone scorer, tallying one field goal and two free throws.

The teams lined up as follows:

Washington—Halvorson, Hay, forwards; Hotchkiss, center; Armstrong and Ginsberg, guards; sub, Davis.

Whittier—White, Clarkson, forwards; Trommald, center; Peterson, Brown, guards; sub, Bouma.

In the second game which was the more exciting of the two, the Lowell came out winners by the score of 6 to 4. Stanley of the Lowell team played a beautiful guard game, being responsible for the saving of many field goals.

The line-ups follow:

Lowell—Marshall and Mayo, forwards; Rasch, center; Stanley and Wolleat, guards.

Lincoln — Patterson, Nordstrom, forwards; Schuetty, center; Cross, Kreger, guards.

Referee—DeRocher.

MISS GLENNA COLLETT ANNEXES ANOTHER GOLF CROWN

Pinehurst, N. C., March 30.—(UP)—Miss Glenna Collett of Providence, R. I., annexed another golf crown here today, defeating Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, four up, in the finals of the women's north and south championship.

At the turn the Chicago golfer was two up but broke suddenly, losing six of the next seven holes.

The cards:

Fly-Fishing Outfit Well Worthy of Proper Care

A good fly-fishing outfit will cost in the neighborhood of $100, but unless one intends to take care of it, it is hardly worth while buying, says Field and Stream. Never allow a ferrule on your rod to get loose. There is every chance in the world the rod will break if you do. Keep a rod well varnished always. The strips of cane are held together by glue, not by the silk wrappings. When the varnish wears off a rod, the water is very liable to loosen the glue. Don't use a rod with any of the guides off; they distribute the strain along the rod and are an essential part of it. Dry the rod before putting it away.

PARI-MUTUEL BETTING SYSTEM

SENATE EXPECTED TO FOLLOW HOUSE ACTION AND APPROVE MEASURE

St. Paul, March 30.—(UP)—The senate is expected to follow the action of the house and approve the bill to legalize use of the pari-mutuel system of betting in Minnesota. The house voted 71 to 47 in favor.

Rep. J. E. Odegard, of Clear Lake, was the only representative whose opposition to the bill moved him to debate against it. He declared he was against legalizing gambling in the state as he asserted the bill would do.

A horse racing commission of three members, licensing of horse racing and payment to the state of five per cent of money placed in pari-mutuel machines are among provisions of the bill.

Springfield, Ill., March 30.—Clear sailing for the Illinois pari-mutuel betting bill was seen by race enthusiasts today following a 17 to 2 committee vote in favor of the measure in the lower house of the legislature.

Machine betting is legalized under the act with the exception that minors are prohibited from wagering.

It is estimated the state will profit to the extent of $700,000 annually through operation of the machines at county fairs.

FIGHTER GETS HIS PURSE SHARE AFTER LAPSE OF 3 YEARS

Hartford, Conn., March 30.—(UP)—The Connecticut senate today passed a bill directing the state treasurer to pay $2,392 to the state athletic commissioner to be paid "Pal" Moran, New Orleans junior lightweight boxer.

Moran fought Kid Kaplan in New Haven three years ago, the referee stopping the fight when he claimed Moran was not trying. The bill restores to him his share of the purse.

These wives of ours!

We took them from the shelter of their families, gave them two or three rooms and a share of our salary—then left them sitting there among the wedding presents, a bit bewildered.

But they knew how—these wives of ours. They knew how to make rooms into homes, and how to get more merchandise out of a dollar bill than we ever could. We're lucky to have wives. How do they do it?

Look through this paper, day after day. You will find advertisements covering almost every human need. They are filled with hints for the household, hints for health, hints for clothing, hints for keeping young. They are virtually little essays on life. No wonder these wives of ours follow them so carefully. As one wise wife said: "It isn't so much that I know housekeeping so well. I know where to learn it!"

Most advertising is prepared especially for women. Read it. It forms an authoritative textbook on good housekeeping.

SHANGHAI AND NANKING SITUATION CONTINUES TENSE

on such offenders as might be caught.

General Chiang Kai-Shek, commander of the Chinese army, told the press today he would take full responsibility for the safety of Nanking. His attitude toward the looting of the city and outrages against foreigners last week, however, depends on an inquiry he is now making, Chiang said.

"I will do everything in my power to prevent use of force against the Shanghai foreign settlement," he added.

The Shanghai defense force will be strengthened considerably in the next few days. The U. S. cruisers Marblehead and Richmond are due Saturday and the Cincinnati Monday. Britain has ordered more troops to the danger area from Hongkong, and French reinforcements were reported en route from French Indo-China.

AMERICAN CATHOLIC MISSION LOOTED

Washington, March 30.—The American Catholic mission at Fuchow in Kantung province was reported today to have been looted, and its fathers have fled to Kochow. Other missionaries leaving Nanking were stoned.

Admiral C. S. Williams, Asiatic fleet commander, reporting this to the navy department under date of 4:50 P. M. Shanghai time, added that evacuation of Americans from up-river Yangtze districts was proceeding satisfactorily. Cantonese, however, continue firing on destroyers and refugee ships plying from Nanking and other river points.

At Nanking there is no communication between the ships and shore. Forty-seven British and American missionaries left for Shanghai and were stoned by Chinese.

Williams confirmed reports that Dr. Taylor, an American missionary, his wife and children, though warned persist in remaining at Nanking.

GREAT BRITAIN TO RETAIN HONGKONG COLONY

Hongkong, March 30—Great Britain will retain Hongkong as a colony, the governor of Hongkong announced today.

Acting on instructions from London, the governor informed the community that Great Britain would not surrender either the island of Hongkong or leased mainland territories in response to native demands.

The nationalist government in China includes in its platform Chinese control of Chinese territory, including foreign settlements and concessions. The island of Hongkong is owned by Britain, but adjacent mainland territories are leased from China under treaty for defense purposes.

CHINESE MOB STONES AMERICANS AND BRITISH

Peking, March 30. — A Chinese mob stoned 47 American and British who were evacuating Anking aboard the U. S. S. Hulbert, a dispatch said today.

Nationalist troops have occupied the Standard Oil Co. building at Chinkiang without damaging it. The American Baptist mission at Kewilin, province of Kwangsi, was looted. It had already been evacuated.

DEFENDS BOMBARDMENT OF NANKING AS NECESSARY

Washington, March 30.—Defending the recent Anglo-American bombardment of Nanking as necessary to protect American and other foreign lives, Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet, said in an official report to the navy today that no large number of Chinese were killed.

Those killed were probably attacking foreigners or looting foreign property, he added.

The shelling of Nanking has been criticised by nationalist leaders, and Chinese reports that many Chinese were killed have tended to incite hostility against foreigners, according to cable dispatches.

Williams' report was made, it is understood, to clear up the misapprehension.

"Firing by American destroyers and H. M. S. Emerald," Williams said, "was directed around a foreign house on top of Standard Oil hill to which the American consul and his party had fled. Fire was opened by ships as a last resort when the party in question was being fired at by Chinese.

"The signal requesting the ships to open fire was sent by an American bluejacket from the top of this house and while sending it he was fired at repeatedly. The area in which the shells from the ships fell is largely foreign owned and foreign occupied.

"No shells were directed against the Chinese section of Nanking.

"The effect of the firing by the ships was not only the rescue of the American consul and party but also the rescue of all other foreigners in the city as the attack ceased immediately in other parts of the city and the foreigners were allowed to go unmolested to their ships at the waterfront."

ANOTHER GENERAL STRIKE IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, March 31.—(Thursday 12:30 A. M.) — Another general strike similar to that which caused trouble several weeks ago, tonight seemed likely to be called in Shanghai soon. It was learned from a reliable source that the general labor union leaders had decided to call a general strike aimed solely at British industries.

LEIGH WADE MAY TRY NON-STOP FLIGHT NEW YORK TO PARIS

Curtiss Field, L. I., N. Y., March 30.—(UP)—A report that Leigh Wade, noted American aviator, might attempt a non-stop flight from New York to Paris before the end of next week was discussed at Curtiss field today, but no confirmation was available.

Wade and Clarence Chamberlain, pilot and navigator, had announced an imminent 50-hour endurance flight in a new Wright-Bellanca airplane that theoretically is capable of flying 4,000 miles on its fuel capaciyt of 395 gallons.

It was suspected by some observers that the "endurance flight" might be a blind to mask the trans-Atlantic attempt, the aviators hoping to avoid the publicity and bustle that attended Rene Fonck's tragic getaway last September.

Support was given the belief when it was learned an "air mattress" had been installed as well as numerous special instruments which might be superfluous on a plane flying only over Long Island.

Modern Music Needs New Kind of Violin

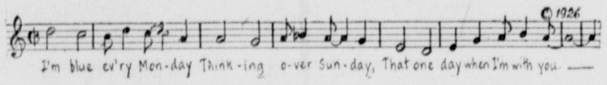

BEN BERNIE

"THE DEMAND FOR MUSIC WILL CREATE A DEMAND FOR VIOLINS AND THIS CENTURY WILL TURN OUT SOMETHING AS GOOD AS THE STRADIVARIUS VARIETY."

BERNIE IS LEADER OF THE HOTEL ROOSEVELT ORCHESTRA

Ben Bernie Declares Present-Day Harmonies Require Super-Instrument

New York City.—A new kind of violin, made necessary by the demands of modern music, is predicted by Ben Bernie, leader of the orchestra of the Roosevelt Hotel, whose chiefest treasure is his seventeenth century Stradivarius.

"And although I love my 'Strad' better than almost anything in the world, I feel sure the United States will produce something better than Cremona ever did.

"The demand for good music has so increased the number of excellent violin players that now the first-class violinist is the rule rather than the exception, and the new harmonies are making the musicians very fussy about their instruments because of the necessity for tone shading. Some of the modern compositions have extremely unusual harmonic strains, especially the so-called 'hot blues'.

"Plaintive tones need the quality of the violin but it is very hard to get the necessary volume from that instrument. I have in mind the new foxtrot, 'Sunday,' which illustrates this very thing. The saxophone now has to do the work which the violin should do, for no matter how beautifully the saxophone is played you cannot get the appeal that you can get from a violin.

"In 'Sunday' on a half dozen different strains I had to make the saxophone do the violin's job to get my effects.

"I am working on the idea of an American super-violin myself and hope some day to bring forth a real innovation."

ground and at 1 P. M. the first group comprised of mine foremen and superintendents entered, exploring the heading from which the thirty men are reported to have escaped.

Altoona, Pa., March 30. — The Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Company with headquarters in this city, at whose mine the explosion occurred, has little information on the disaster. The company officials said the mine is embraced in three sections, known as "F," the plane and dip sections. Early investigations revealed htat the "F" section is not involved in the explosion.

At the last word from Ehrenfeld the fate of the men in the mine was not known.

The explosion was terrific, being felt at Ehrenfeld, and South Fork, as well as surrounding country. It was caused by gas.

SCOTCH WHISKEY AND MALT SEIZED IN RAIDS

Newark, N. J., March 30.—(UP)—Scotch whiskye and malt valued at approximately $300,000 was seized today in raids at Sayreville and South River, N. J., it was announced at the office of Col. Ira Reeves, dry administrator for New Jersey.

Prohibition agents were investigating reports that the liquor was brought to the United States aboard the steamer Kilmarnock and transferred to other vessels before that ship was seized Sunday.

George Gross, chief of police at Sayreville, was taken into custody. He was said to have demanded that prohibition agents show a search warrant when they broke into the cellar of a dwelling house and seized 1,000 cases of uncut whiskey.

HENRY FORD VICTIM OF AN AUTO MISHAP

CAR CROWDS BILLIONAIRE OVER EMBANKMENT IN DETROIT

HIS FORD COUPE ROLLS AND SLIDES 20 FEET AND HITS TREE

Detroit, Mich., March 30—(UP)—Henry Ford, the richest man in the world, is in his own hospital here, the victim of an automobile accident.

The accident occurred Sunday night when this man, who can buy countless automobiles of the most expensive make and hire as many chauffeurs to drive them for him, was chugging along alone, driving his own Ford coupe, a machine that he retails at his factory here for about $500.

Only his wife and the keeper of his garage knew he was out of his home. He had been at his Dearborn laboratory, where a lone watchman was in attendance.

Returning along Michigan Boulevard, near the River Rouge bridge and not far from his estate, an automobile driven by someone whose name, if it is known, has thus far been withheld, crowded this billionaire and his $500 car over an embankment. The car toppled, rolled and slid some 20 feet, until it struck a tree.

Ford became dazed or unconscious, doctors could not determine which. He did not know how long he remained in his damaged car in that condition, but, judging from the time elapsed between his departure from his laboratory and the time first word of the accident reached his home, it was but a few minutes.

Then Henry Ford pulled himself together, looked dazedly around him, scrambled painfully up the embankment, and walked several hundred yards to the gate of his Dearborn residence.

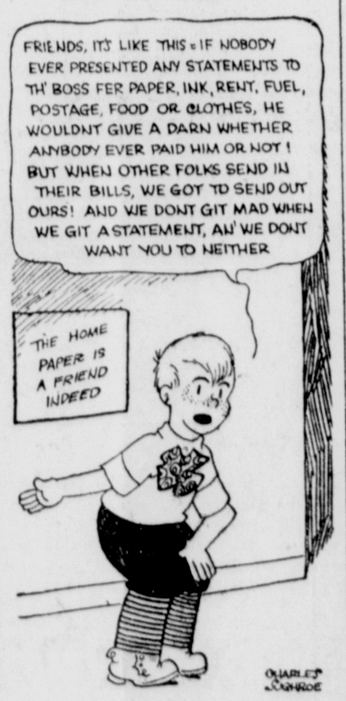

There he stumbled forward to be received by the gate keeper to whom he related his story. The gate keeper told Mrs. Ford, and she in turn, Dr. R. L. McClurr. Word of the accident became a closely guarded secret.

But yesterday, physicians who remained with Ford constantly,, decided that hospital care and a minor operation, the exact nature of which was not disclosed, would be necessary.

So last night, the billionaire was bundled into one of the ambulances which attends his Dearborn laboratories and the Henry Ford hospital, and he was taken to the hospital where the operation was performed.

At noon today he was pronounced resting easily and assurances were given by attending physicians that no serious complications were expected.

PUBLIC CAREER OF PEACHES BROWNING RECEIVES SETBACK

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 30.—(UP)—The public career of Peaches Browning received another setback today when Charles Lazaro, proprietor of the Flotilla Night club, announced the wife of Edward West Browning of New York would not appear as hostess and dancer next week.

He had previously announced Mrs. Browning, whose husband recently was granted a decree of separation in New York, would appear "regardless of the attitude of the police or the public." He refused to reveal the reason for his change in plans.

2 MEN LITERALLY LIVING OFF THE FAT OF THE LAND

New York, March 30. — (UP)—Two men who literally have been living off the fat of the land were indicted today by the federal grand jury after an investigation into so-called anti-obesity preparations manufactured by Eral F. Callan and Willis E. Learned.

Indictments returned in United States district court charge Callan and Learned with hisuse of the mails in connection with their exploitation of fat-reducing schemes.

In one year it was charged, persons who believed themselves overweight paid $500,000 to companies in which Callan and Learned were interested. Of this income, $300,000 was spent in advertising.

The government charged that four patent preparations sold on a "money-back-if-not-satisfied" guarantee were "of no practical value," so far as taking off surplus tissue was concerned.

LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER GETS A REAL THRILL

With the United States Fleet in the Caribbean, March 30.—(UP)—The lighthouse keeper on Lonely Navassia Island has been given an unexpected thrill as a result of the war game now in progress in the western Caribbean. Planes launched from the decks of battleships by means of catapults have been appearing from nowhere in the neighborhood of this light. After inspection, they fly away again.

The U. S. S. Seattle, umpire in the contest between the scouting and battle fleets, is about 250 miles south of Navassia.

Fleet operations incident to the strategial maneuvers continued today in perfect weather. The scouting fleet commanded by Vice Admiral Ashley H. Robertson, is endeavoring to concentrate and establish a base at some convenient port, while the battle fleet, commanded by Admiral Richrad H. Jackson, seeks to prevent his.

No major submarine or destroyer contacts have been reported by scouts of either fleet, which indicates that the main bodies are stil lwidely separated.

Mrs. Kip Rhinelander to Sue for Separation

New Rochelle, N. Y., March 30.—(UP)—Mrs. Leonard Kip Rhinelander, having successfully resisted through three courts her husband's attempt to annul their marriage, today was planning to take the initiative and sue for separation on grounds of abandonment.

Mrs. Rhinelander, the daughter of George Jones, a negro taxicab driver, said she had withheld her action until the highest court in the state had upheld her victory. That was done yesterday.

She probably will ask alimony of more than $300 a month, the sum she has been receiving since annulment proceedings.

MINNEAPOLIS MAN ARRESTED, CONFESSES TO THEFT OF TIRES

Cedar Rapids, Ia., March 30.—(UP)—L. J. Scott, Minneapolis, was arrested in his hotel room here last night and, after being questioned, he confessed, according to police, to the theft of seven automobile tires from Leonard Larson, 1900 Lyndale avenue, Minneapolis.

Suspicion was directed to Scott, when he tried to sell a new tire to a local tire company. He is being held pending word from police at Minneapolis.

CANADIAN PICTURE HAS TITLE CHANGED

Ottawa, Ont., March 30.—(UP)—Because he feared it might give a wrong impression of the life of the average Canadian, Premier Mackenzie King requested a United State Motion Picture Company to change the title of the recent film "The Canadian," in which Thomas Meighan appears, to "The Canadian Pioneer."

The request has been granted and the new title will be used when the picture is released in British Isles and on the continent. It already has been shown throughout Canada.

Clothes Expenditure

According to an inquiry made by the United States Department of Labor, the average American housewife has a total yearly expenditure for clothes of $63.55. The annual total for the average husband is $71.38.

SHANGHAI AND NANKING SITUATION CONTINUES TENSE

on such offenders as might be caught.

General Chiang Kai-Shek, commander of the Chinese army, told the press today he would take full responsibility for the safety of Nanking. His attitude toward the looting of the city and outrages against foreigners last week, however, depends on an inquiry he is now making, Chiang said.

"I will do everything in my power to prevent use of force against the Shanghai foreign settlement," he added.

The Shanghai defense force will be strengthened considerably in the next few days. The U. S. cruisers Marblehead and Richmond are due Saturday and the Cincinnati Monday. Britain has ordered more troops to the danger area from Hongkong, and French reinforcements were reported en route from French Indo-China.

AMERICAN CATHOLIC MISSION LOOTED

Washington, March 30.—The American Catholic mission at Fuchow in Kantung province was reported today to have been looted, and its fathers have fled to Kochow. Other missionaries leaving Nanking were stoned.

Admiral C. S. Williams, Asiatic fleet commander, reporting this to the navy department under date of 4:50 P. M. Shanghai time, added that evacuation of Americans from up-river Yangtze districts was proceeding satisfactorily. Cantonese, however, continue firing on destroyers and refugee ships plying from Nanking and other river points.

At Nanking there is no communication between the ships and shore. Forty-seven British and American missionaries left for Shanghai and were stoned by Chinese.

Williams confirmed reports that Dr. Taylor, an American missionary, his wife and children, though warned persist in remaining at Nanking.

GREAT BRITAIN TO RETAIN HONGKONG COLONY

Hongkong, March 30—Great Britain will retain Hongkong as a colony, the governor of Hongkong announced today.

Acting on instructions from London, the governor informed the community that Great Britain would not surrender either the island of Hongkong or leased mainland territories in response to native demands.

The nationalist government in China includes in its platform Chinese control of Chinese territory, including foreign settlements and concessions. The island of Hongkong is owned by Britain, but adjacent mainland territories are leased from China under treaty for defense purposes.

CHINESE MOB STONES AMERICANS AND BRITISH

Peking, March 30. — A Chinese mob stoned 47 American and British who were evacuating Anking aboard the U. S. S. Hulbert, a dispatch said today.

Nationalist troops have occupied the Standard Oil Co. building at Chinkiang without damaging it. The American Baptist mission at Kewilin, province of Kwangsi, was looted. It had already been evacuated.

DEFENDS BOMBARDMENT OF NANKING AS NECESSARY

Washington, March 30.—Defending the recent Anglo-American bombardment of Nanking as necessary to protect American and other foreign lives, Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet, said in an official report to the navy today that no large number of Chinese were killed.

Those killed were probably attacking foreigners or looting foreign property, he added.

The shelling of Nanking has been criticised by nationalist leaders, and Chinese reports that many Chinese were killed have tended to incite hostility against foreigners, according to cable dispatches.

Williams' report was made, it is understood, to clear up the misapprehension.

"Firing by American destroyers and H. M. S. Emerald," Williams said, "was directed around a foreign house on top of Standard Oil hill to which the American consul and his party had fled. Fire was opened by ships as a last resort when the party in question was being fired at by Chinese.

"The signal requesting the ships to open fire was sent by an American bluejacket from the top of this house and while sending it he was fired at repeatedly. The area in which the shells from the ships fell is largely foreign owned and foreign occupied.

"No shells were directed against the Chinese section of Nanking.

"The effect of the firing by the ships was not only the rescue of the American consul and party but also the rescue of all other foreigners in the city as the attack ceased immediately in other parts of the city and the foreigners were allowed to go unmolested to their ships at the waterfront."

ANOTHER GENERAL STRIKE IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, March 31.—(Thursday 12:30 A. M.) — Another general strike similar to that which caused trouble several weeks ago, tonight seemed likely to be called in Shanghai soon. It was learned from a reliable source that the general labor union leaders had decided to call a general strike aimed solely at British industries.

LEIGH WADE MAY TRY NON-STOP FLIGHT NEW YORK TO PARIS

Curtiss Field, L. I., N. Y., March 30. —(UP)—A report that Leigh Wade, noted American aviator, might attempt a non-stop flight from New York to Paris before the end of next week was discussed at Curtiss field today, but no confirmation was available.

Wade and Clarence Chamberlain, pilot and navigator, had announced an imminent 50-hour endurance flight in a new Wright-Bellanca airplane that theoretically is capable of flying 4,000 miles on its fuel capaciyt of 395 gallons.

It was suspected by some observers that the "endurance flight" might be a blind to mask the trans-Atlantic attempt, the aviators hoping to avoid the publicity and bustle that attended Rene Fonck's tragic getaway last September.

Support was given the belief when it was learned an "air mattress" had been installed as well as numerous special instruments which might be superfluous on a plane flying only over Long Island.

Geneva, March 30.—(UP)—Britain, France, Italy and Belgium as the world's principal colonial powers, today tentatively agreed upon a scheme to limit the number of home and colonial troops to be maintained by them.

Modern Music Needs New Kind of Violin

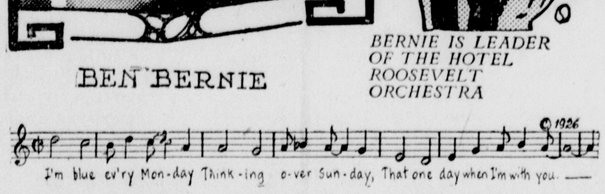

BEN BERNIE

"THE DEMAND FOR MUSIC WILL CREATE A DEMAND FOR VIOLINS AND THIS CENTURY WILL TURN OUT SOMETHING AS GOOD AS THE STRADIVARIUS VARIETY."

BERNIE IS LEADER OF THE HOTEL ROOSEVELT ORCHESTRA

Ben Bernie Declares Present-Day Harmonies Require Super-Instrument

New York City.—A new kind of violin, made necessary by the demands of modern music, is predicted by Ben Bernie, leader of the orchestra of the Roosevelt Hotel, whose chiefest treasure is his seventeenth century Stradivarius.

"And although I love my 'Strad' better than almost anything in the world, I feel sure the United States will produce something better than Cremona ever did.

"The demand for good music has so increased the number of excellent violin players that now the first-class violinist is the rule rather than the exception, and the new harmonies are making the musicians very fussy about their instruments because of the necessity for tone shading. Some of the modern compositions have extremely unusual harmonic strains, especially the so-called 'hot blues'.

"Plaintive tones need the quality of the violin but it is very hard to get the necessary volume from that instrument. I have in mind the new foxtrot, 'Sunday,' which illustrates this very thing. The saxophone now has to do the work which the violin should do, for no matter how beautifully the saxophone is played you cannot get the appeal that you can get from a violin.

"In 'Sunday' on a half dozen different strains I had to make the saxophone do the violin's job to get my effects.

"I am working on the idea of an American super-violin myself and hope some day to bring forth a real innovation."

350 MEN ENTOMBED IN PENNSYLVANIA MINE

ground and at 1 P. M. the first group comprised of mine foremen and superintendents entered, exploring the heading from which the thirty men are reported to have escaped.

Altoona, Pa., March 30. — The Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Company with headquarters in this city, at whose mine the explosion occurred, has little information on the disaster. The company officials said the mine is embraced in three sections, known as "F," the plane and dip sections. Early investigations revealed htat the "F" section is not involved in the explosion.

At the last word from Ehrenfeld the fate of the men in the mine was not known.

The explosion was terrific, being felt at Ehrenfeld, and South Fork, as well as surrounding country. It was caused by gas.

SHOOTS WIFE AND THEN SLAYS SELF

Kansas City, Mo., March 30.—(UP) —After shooting his wife, Mrs. Amy Stark, three times with a revolver, Claude Stark killed himself at his home here this afternoon.

Mrs. Stark was rushed to a hospital where she is in a critical condition.

The Starks had three children.

SCOTCH WHISKEY AND MALT SEIZED IN RAIDS

Newark, N. J., March 30.—(UP) —Scotch whiskye and malt valued at approximately $300,000 was seized today in raids at Sayreville and South River, N. J., it was announced at the office of Col. Ira Reeves, dry administrator for New Jersey.

Prohibition agents were investigating reports that the liquor was brought to the United States aboard the steamer Kilmarnock and transferred to other vessels before that ship was seized Sunday.

George Gross, chief of police at Sayreville, was taken into custody. He was said to have demanded that prohibition agents show a search warrant when they broke into the cellar of a dwelling house and seized 1,000 cases of uncut whiskey.

HENRY FORD VICTIM OF AN AUTO MISHAP

CAR CROWDS BILLIONAIRE OVER EMBANKMENT IN DETROIT

HIS FORD COUPE ROLLS AND SLIDES 20 FEET AND HITS TREE

Detroit, Mich., March 30—(UP)—Henry Ford, the richest man in the world, is in his own hospital here, the victim of an automobile accident.

The accident occurred Sunday night when this man, who can buy countless automobiles of the most expensive make and hire as many chauffeurs to drive them for him, was chugging along alone, driving his own Ford coupe, a machine that he retails at his factory here for about $500.

Only his wife and the keeper of his garage knew he was out of his home. He had been at his Dearborn laboratory, where a lone watchman was in attendance.

Returning along Michigan Boulevard, near the River Rouge bridge and not far from his estate, an automobile driven by someone whose name, if it is known, has thus far been withheld, crowded this billionaire and his $500 car over an embankment. The car toppled, rolled and slid some 20 feet, until it struck a tree.

Ford became dazed or unconscious, doctors could not determine which. He did not know how long he remained in his damaged car in that condition, but, judging from the time elapsed between his departure from his laboratory and the time first word of the accident reached his home, it was but a few minutes.

Then Henry Ford pulled himself together, looked dazedly around him, scrambled painfully up the embankment, and walked several hundred yards to the gate of his Dearborn residence.

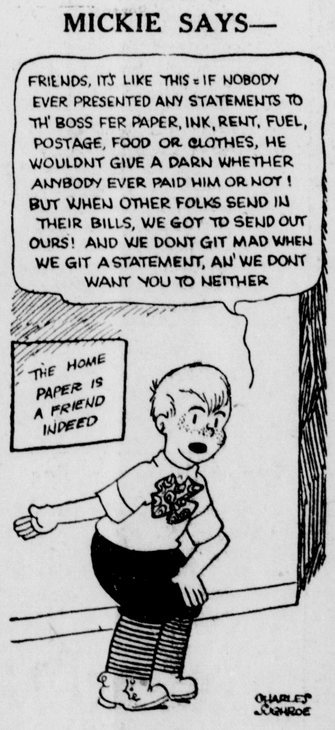

There he stumbled forward to be received by the gate keeper to whom he related his story. The gate keeper told Mrs. Ford, and she in turn, Dr. R. L. McClurr. Word of the accident became a closely guarded secret.

But yesterday, physicians who remained with Ford constantly,, decided that hospital care and a minor operation, the exact nature of which was not disclosed, would be necessary.

So last night, the billionaire was bundled into one of the ambulances which attends his Dearborn laboratories and the Henry Ford hospital, and he was taken to the hospital where the operation was performed.

At noon today he was pronounced resting easily and assurances were given by attending physicians that no serious complications were expected.

PUBLIC CAREER OF PEACHES BROWNING RECEIVES SETBACK

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 30.—(UP) —The public career of Peaches Browning received another setback today when Charles Lazaro, proprietor of the Flotilla Night club, announced the wife of Edward West Browning of New York would not appear as hostess and dancer next week.

He had previously announced Mrs. Browning, whose husband recently was granted a decree of separation in New York, would appear "regardless of the attitude of the police or the public." He refused to reveal the reason for his change in plans.

2 MEN LITERALLY LIVING OFF THE FAT OF THE LAND

New York, March 30. — (UP)— Two men who literally have been living off the fat of the land were indicted today by the federal grand jury after an investigation into so-called anti-obesity preparations manufactured by Eral F. Callan and Willis E. Learned.

Indictments returned in United States district court charge Callan and Learned with hisuse of the mails in connection with their exploitation of fat-reducing schemes.

In one year it was charged, persons who believed themselves overweight paid $500,000 to companies in which Callan and Learned were interested. Of this income, $300,000 was spent in advertising.

The government charged that four patent preparations sold on a "money-back-if-not-satisfied" guarantee were "of no practical value," so far as taking off surplus tissue was concerned.

LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER GETS A REAL THRILL

With the United States Fleet in the Caribbean, March 30.—(UP)— The lighthouse keeper on Lonely Navassia Island has been given an unexpected thrill as a result of the war game now in progress in the western Caribbean. Planes launched from the decks of battleships by means of catapults have been appearing from nowhere in the neighborhood of this light. After inspection, they fly away again.

The U. S. S. Seattle, umpire in the contest between the scouting and battle fleets, is about 250 miles south of Navassia.

Fleet operations incident to the strategial maneuvers continued today in perfect weather. The scouting fleet commanded by Vice Admiral Ashley H. Robertson, is endeavoring to concentrate and establish a base at some convenient port, while the battle fleet, commanded by Admiral Richrad H. Jackson, seeks to prevent his.

No major submarine or destroyer contacts have been reported by scouts of either fleet, which indicates that the main bodies are stil lwidely separated.

BOYS', GIRLS' CLUBS ORGANIZING STARTS

20 Clubs in County With Membership of 400 is Goal Set by County Agent

CROSBY-IRONTON CLUB MEETS

Look for Large Membership in Various Projects Under Club Work

Twenty boys' and girls' clubs in the county with a membership of over 400 and a representative membership of 200 in the gardening project, 50 in the dairy calf club project, 50 in sewing, 50 in potato raising, and 30 in poultry club work is the goal to be strived for this summer by E. G. Roth, county agent.

Work has already satrted in the organization of Boys and Girls clubs throughout the county. Last evening a club was organized at West Oak Lawn township with 18 members with Paul Meyers, president; Peter McKay, vice president; and Vera Congdon, secretary.

The Crosby-Ironton club will endeavor to secure the largest club in the area. At a recent meeting of the club over 200 boys and girls of Crosby-Ironton and community were present. A. J. Kittelson, assistant state boys and girls club worker and E. G. Roth, county agent, were in attendance and outlined the work planned for the year.

St. Mathias is expected to organize within a few days. Mary Tautges was president and Herbert Cook, secretary of that well organized club last year.

Membership to the Boys' and Girls' club is open to any boy and girl in his or her community, from the ages of 10 to 20. The work will be part of the program carried on by the Agricultural Extension Service of the Agricultural College, in cooperation with local communities, counties, and the schools of the state. In each county having organized extension work, club work is in charge of the county extension service. For the state, the work is in charge of the state club staff at University Farm, St. Paul. Outlines for projects, follow-up lessons, and other club literature are furnished by the county agent or by the state office.

Each member of the club will undertake a home or farm project and the problems of the work will be discussed at the regular meetings of the clubs. Where the club membership is large, the work will be organized by projects, so there may be a bread club, a garment club, a corn club, a dairy club and others.

Exhibits will be made by the club members at local club exhibits, county fairs, and at the State Fair.

The following rules are considered adequate for a standard club:

A standard club shall have a membership of at least five working on the same project. Other members may work on other projects.

A local club leader shall be in charge during the club year.

There shall be a local club organization with the necessary officers.

There shall be a definite club year program of work.

At least six regular club meetings shall be held during the club year. The secretary shall be required to keep definite records of these meetings.

A local exhibit and an Achievement Day shall be held annually.

A demonstration or judging team must give at least one public demonstration in the home community.

At least 60 percent of the members must complete the project and file reports with the club leader.

The Boys' and Girls' club, otherwise known as 4-H club has the following club pledge:

"I pledge my head to clearer thinking, my heart to greater loyalty, my hands to larger service, and my health to better living, for my club, my community, and my country."

LEADERS MEET FRIDAY

Boyology Training Course Lesson to be Given at Crosby-Ironton High School

The fifth meeting of the Crow Wing Area Boyology Training Course will be held in the Crosby-Ironton high school at 7:30 o'clock, Friday evening with C. W. Armstrong, of St. Cloud, discussing methods of fire-by-friction, also methods of making nature lore interesting and helpful to the boy.

Mr. Armstrong who is a graduate of the Minnesota Forestry school and a practical outdoor man is well versed in these topics. Instruction will also be given in the use of the knife and hatchet and the making of fires as a troop handicraft project. Troop No. 1 of Ironton under the leadership of F. G. Mayberry will put on an investiture ceremony.

LOOK FOR EARLY OPENING OF GOLF

With Favorable Weather Conditions Brainerd Country Club Will Open Soon

WORKING ON GREENS

Special Membership is Offered Teachers for School Year at Small Cost

Prevailing favorable weather conditions will make it possible this year to open the Brainerd Country club earlier than has been the custom, as directors and officers of the club plan on the most important and biggest season in its history.

If the present weather conditions continue it is likely that the club will open its course within a few days. Ground Keeper Larson has moved out to the links and has been busy for the past two weeks getting the machinery and equipment in shape to start on the grounds as soon as possible.

Notice of the opening is expected to be given in a few days. In the meantime players are requested to keep off the greens as a great deal of damage can be done by playing on wet greens.

An effort is to be made this year to beat the record of the past two years in cutting down the indebtedness of the club. Applications for membership have already commenced coming in and indications point to a large increase in membership.

The club this year will extend the privileges of the links to the school teachers at a minimum cost, thus creating a new class of membership known as Teachers Membership. The cost of the membership will depend largely if not entirely on the number who wish to take advantage of this offer. The fee will likely be between $5 and $10 and all teachers who expect to become members under this plan are requested to communicate with Secretary E. J. Egan this week. The board of directors will meet Saturday night, and the rate will be set at that time. The privileges under the new plan will be limited to the school year.

Use Care in This

Fertilizers of any kind should be added only in small quantities and only to healthy growing plants, says Nature Magazine. More harm is done to house plants by overfertilization than any other single agency. Fertilizer is a plant food and, as such, is very rich. It must not, therefore, be given in large quantities nor to sickly plants.

AMATEUR HOME TALENT IN SHOW

N. E. Brainerd Baseball Team to Present Its Carnival

FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 1

Funds Derived to be Used to Purchase Equipment for Team

The biggest and best amateur home talent carnival ever to have been presented in Brainerd history is the ambition that the N. E. Brainerd baseball team is striving for in the entertainment which it will present Friday evening, April 1, in the Lowell school. The big program starts at 7:30 sharp and will be given a second showing as soon as the first is finished.

Funds derived from the carnival will be used to purchase additional and necessary equipment for the team which won the city league championship last year. Every effort will be made in 1927 to keep the silver trophy in Northeast Brainerd whose citizens take just pride in its possession. In an indirect way the carnival will be the opening of the baseball season in Brainerd and all fans should turn out and give the boys a big send off. The team has been given the hearty co-operation of the N. E. Brainerd Improvement League which is backing the project to the limit.

The general committee is composed of Edward Elling, chairman, Walter Stein, Ira H. Holman, and Louis Montgomery. The refreshment committee is composed of Mrs. H. C. Stein, chairman, Mrs. Fred Hass, Misses Marie and Clara Stein and Mrs. J. H. Herbert, and will be in charge of the refreshments consisting of candy, pop, ice cream bars, wieners, sandwiches, cake, coffee, etc.

A special home made N. E. booster candy bar has been concocted by one of Northeast's famous cooks, sales of which are sure to rival that of any other delicious sweet tooth confection. A special wrapper has been made for the bar, making it appear as professional as possible.

Liberal donations have been received from the merchants of N. E. Brainerd and include the Anderson Mercantile Co., M. Arnold, Swanson and Thon, C. W. Koering, Richard Ilse, Gustafson and Nelson, People's Meat Market, B. Kraatz, Zimmerman [illegible]-Finch Co. has [illegible]'s Delicious Coffee."

Besides the big show of the evening there will be a photo gallery as a side attraction. Several artists have given their services gratis to either paint or draw patron's pictures.

A group of artists, the Dixie Minstrels, will put on an act of their own and according to reports from rehearsals their performance is mirth-provoking.

Meanwhile members of the team who are not attending rehearsals or completing last minute suggestions are gazing fondly at the field "itching" to get into their baseball togs, slide into another home run, win the silver trophy again and bring fame and glory to N. E. Brainerd.

ROBBERS ELUDE ARREST

Two Young Men Who Robbed Farmer Did Not Enter City, is Belief

The belief is implied today by Sheriff Claus Theorin that the two young men who robbed St. Onge a farmer, of $37.50 while giving him a "lift" in their car on Highway No. 27 Monday afternoon, did not enter Brainerd but travelled on side roads and possibly returned the way they had come.

The robbery occurred in Morrison county. No arrests have been made yet.

Now—oil heating
is a proved success

BEFORE taking on the Oil-O-Matic, we were just as skeptical as anyone. But now no one can doubt the success of this famous oil burner.

Oil-O-Matic has been working perfectly for nearly six years. Every user is enthusiastic, and there are nearly 20,000 of them today.

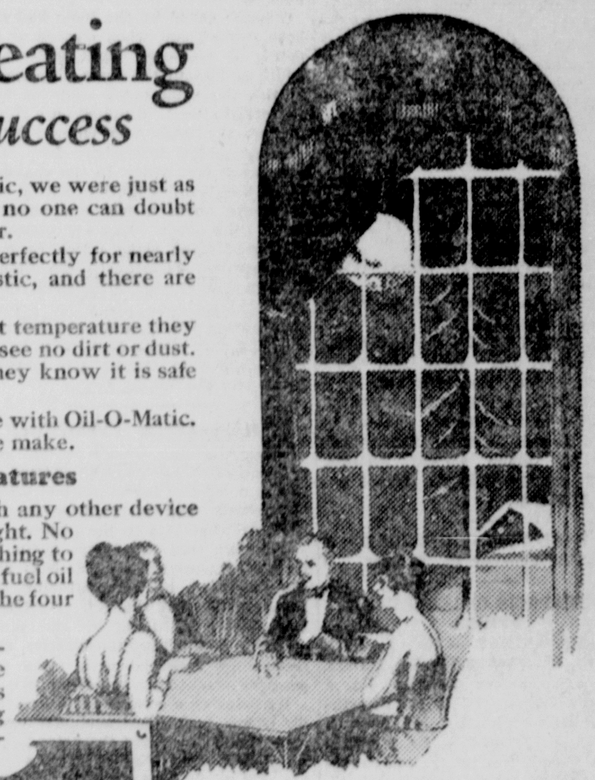

Their homes are always the exact temperature they enjoy. They smell no fumes. They see no dirt or dust. They hear no unpleasant noise. They know it is safe beyond question.

You too will have this experience with Oil-O-Matic. We guarantee every installation we make.

Exclusive safety features

Oil-O-Matic cannot be classed with any other device that heats with oil. It has no pilot light. No part of it is inside the furnace. Nothing to burn out or replace. It burns cheap fuel oil without soot or smoke. It follows the four laws of oil combustion.

It has the famous Williams Thermal Safety Control—an exclusive feature with Oil-O-Matic. This watches over your entire heating plant. Everything has to work perfectly or it immediately shuts off the oil and the motor.

Proved for five years

When you see it and talk with Oil-O-Matic users, right here in town, you will realize that you need not wait any longer. The oil burner problem is solved. Oil-O-Matic is five years beyond experiment.

Let us inspect your heating plant. We will tell you if it is suitable for oil burning and what a guaranteed installation will cost you. Phone or call today. The number of installations we can make this month is limited.

Pay for it as you use it

We have a deferred payment plan that is unusual. No interest charges on the notes. Ask us about this.

BOYS', GIRLS' CLUBS ORGANIZING STARTS

20 Clubs in County With Membership of 400 is Goal Set by County Agent

CROSBY-IRONTON CLUB MEETS

Look for Large Membership in Various Projects Under Club Work

Twenty boys' and girls' clubs in the county with a membership of over 400 and a representative membership of 200 in the gardening project, 50 in the dairy calf club project, 50 in sewing, 50 in potato raising, and 30 in poultry club work is the goal to be strived for this summer by E. G. Roth, county agent.

Work has already satrted in the organization of Boys and Girls clubs throughout the county. Last evening a club was organized at West Oak Lawn township with 18 members with Paul Meyers, president; Peter McKay, vice president; and Vera Congdon, secretary.

The Crosby-Ironton club will endeavor to secure the largest club in the area. At a recent meeting of the club over 200 boys and girls of Crosby-Ironton and community were present. A. J. Kittelson, assistant state boys and girls club worker and E. G. Roth, county agent, were in attendance and outlined the work planned for the year.

St. Mathias is expected to organize within a few days. Mary Tautges was president and Herbert Cook, secretary of that well organized club last year.

Membership to the Boys' and Girls' club is open to any boy and girl in his or her community, from the ages of 10 to 20. The work will be part of the program carried on by the Agricultural Extension Service of the Agricultural College, in cooperation with local communities, counties, and the schools of the state. In each county having organized extension work, club work is in charge of the county extension service. For the state, the work is in charge of the state club staff at University Farm, St. Paul. Outlines for projects, follow-up lessons, and other club literature are furnished by the county agent or by the state office.

Each member of the club will undertake a home or farm project and the problems of the work will be discussed at the regular meetings of the clubs. Where the club membership is large, the work will be organized by projects, so there may be a bread club, a garment club, a corn club, a dairy club and others.

Exhibits will be made by the club members at local club exhibits, county fairs, and at the State Fair.

The following rules are considered adequate for a standard club:

A standard club shall have a membership of at least five working on the same project. Other members may work on other projects.

A local club leader shall be in charge during the club year.

There shall be a local club organization with the necessary officers.

There shall be a definite club year program of work.

At least six regular club meetings shall be held during the club year. The secretary shall be required to keep definite records of these meetings.

A local exhibit and an Achievement Day shall be held annually.

A demonstration or judging team must give at least one public demonstration in the home community.

At least 60 percent of the members must complete the project and file reports with the club leader.

The Boys' and Girls' club, otherwise known as 4-H club has the following club pledge:

"I pledge my head to clearer thinking, my heart to greater loyalty, my hands to larger service, and my health to better living, for my club, my community, and my country."

LEADERS MEET FRIDAY

Boyology Training Course Lesson to be Given at Crosby-Ironton High School

The fifth meeting of the Crow Wing Area Boyology Training Course will be held in the Crosby-Ironton high school at 7:30 o'clock, Friday evening with C. W. Armstrong, of St. Cloud, discussing methods of fire-by-friction, also methods of making nature lore interesting and helpful to the boy.

Mr. Armstrong who is a graduate of the Minnesota Forestry school and a practical outdoor man is well versed in these topics. Instruction will also be given in the use of the knife and hatchet and the making of fires as a troop handicraft project. Troop No. 1 of Ironton under the leadership of F. G. Mayberry will put on an investiture ceremony.

LOOK FOR EARLY OPENING OF GOLF

With Favorable Weather Conditions Brainerd Country Club Will Open Soon

WORKING ON GREENS

Special Membership is Offered Teachers for School Year at Small Cost

Prevailing favorable weather conditions will make it possible this year to open the Brainerd Country club earlier than has been the custom, as directors and officers of the club plan on the most important and biggest season in its history.

If the present weather conditions continue it is likely that the club will open its course within a few days. Ground Keeper Larson has moved out to the links and has been busy for the past two weeks getting the machinery and equipment in shape to start on the grounds as soon as possible.

Notice of the opening is expected to be given in a few days. In the meantime players are requested to keep off the greens as a great deal of damage can be done by playing on wet greens.

An effort is to be made this year to beat the record of the past two years in cutting down the indebtedness of the club. Applications for membership have already commenced coming in and indications point to a large increase in membership.

The club this year will extend the privileges of the links to the school teachers at a minimum cost, thus creating a new class of membership known as Teachers Membership. The cost of the membership will depend largely if not entirely on the number who wish to take advantage of this offer. The fee will likely be between $5 and $10 and all teachers who expect to become members under this plan are requested to communicate with Secretary E. J. Egan this week. The board of directors will meet Saturday night, and the rate will be set at that time. The privileges under the new plan will be limited to the school year.

Use Care in This

Fertilizers of any kind should be added only in small quantities and only to healthy growing plants, says Nature Magazine. More harm is done to house plants by overfertilization than any other single agency. Fertilizer is a plant food and, as such, is very rich. It must not, therefore, be given in large quantities nor to sickly plants.

AMATEUR HOME TALENT IN SHOW

N. E. Brainerd Baseball Team to Present Its Carnival

FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 1

Funds Derived to be Used to Purchase Equipment for Team

The biggest and best amateur home talent carnival ever to have been presented in Brainerd history is the ambition that the N. E. Brainerd baseball team is striving for in the entertainment which it will present Friday evening, April 1, in the Lowell school. The big program starts at 7:30 sharp and will be given a second showing as soon as the first is finished.

Funds derived from the carnival will be used to purchase additional and necessary equipment for the team which won the city league championship last year. Every effort will be made in 1927 to keep the silver trophy in Northeast Brainerd whose citizens take just pride in its possession. In an indirect way the carnival will be the opening of the baseball season in Brainerd and all fans should turn out and give the boys a big send off. The team has been given the hearty co-operation of the N. E. Brainerd Improvement League which is backing the project to the limit.

The general committee is composed of Edward Elling, chairman, Walter Stein, Ira H. Holman, and Louis Montgomery. The refreshment committee is composed of Mrs. H. C. Stein, chairman, Mrs. Fred Hass, Misses Marie and Clara Stein and Mrs. J. H. Herbert, and will be in charge of the refreshments consisting of candy, pop, ice cream bars, wieners, sandwiches, cake, coffee, etc.

A special home made N. E. booster candy bar has been concocted by one of Northeast's famous cooks, sales of which are sure to rival that of any other delicious sweet tooth confection. A special wrapper has been made for the bar, making it appear as professional as possible.

Liberal donations have been received from the merchants of N. E. Brainerd and include the Anderson Mercantile Co., M. Arnold, Swanson and Thon, C. W. Koering, Richard Ilse, Gustafson and Nelson, People's Meat Market, B. Kantz, Zimmerman's [illegible]-Finch Co. has [illegible] "It's Delicious Coffee."

Besides the big show of the evening there will be a photo gallery as a side attraction. Several artists have given their services gratis to either paint or draw patron's pictures.

A group of artists, the Dixie Minstrels, will put on an act of their own and according to reports from rehearsals their performance is mirth-provoking.

Meanwhile members of the team who are not attending rehearsals or completing last minute suggestions are gazing fondly at the field "itching" to get into their baseball togs, slide into another home run, win the silver trophy again and bring fame and glory to N. E. Brainerd.

RARE ART OBJECTS IN BEEHIVE TOMB

Find Fills Antiquarians With Delight.

Golden drinking cups, necklaces of gold rosettes, silver signet rings, carved agates, and other ornaments of a workmanship that challenges comparison with the best jewelry of today, and yet made at least 3,000 years ago, have come to light in an ancient beehive tomb in Greece. The treasure was found by a group of Swedish archeologists, headed by Prof. Axel W. Persson of Upsala university. The art objects, contemporary with the tomb of King Tutankhamen in Egypt, are now locked in a special safe in the Greek museum at Nauplia.

Usually the beehive tombs have been plundered of all contents centuries ago, but this one was intact, and the antiquities placed as mementoes with the bodies of a king and queen and princess were most convincing proof of the high culture that prevailed in Greece during the Mycenean age, or before Homer. Pictures of such animals as lions and bulls decorated the golden vessels and rings, while the war scenes, artistically carved in the small agate stones on the signet rings, aroused the immediate admiration of the excavators. Curiously enough, the design of an octopus on the bottom of the king's drinking cup reminded Professor Persson, he said in his lecture in Sweden, of Japanese art, while certain prehistoric houses found in Greece recall the cubistic effects that ultra-modern architects achieve with re-enforced concrete.

Originally the existence of a beehive tomb had been reported to the Greek authorities at Mycenae by a guide named Orestes who, while conducting an American woman to the ruined Mycenean fortress of Midea, had noticed peasants removing flat stones from a tobacco field near Dendra, less than a mile from Midea. From his father, Dimitri, who had helped excavate beehive tombs in his youth, Orestes had heard of possible treasure finds under such stones, and when the Swedish archeologists were called in by Doctor Bertos, the Greek ephor, they quickly confirmed his suspicions.

Though caved in, the tomb had not been robbed, and when cleared of its debris it measured eight meters in width and about the same distance in height, the vault being made of flat, unworked stones. Situated on a slight incline, the tomb was entered by a passage about forty-eight feet long and seven feet wide. In the chamber itself was found a limestone floor and in shafts about a foot and one-half below the floor were encountered elongated stone slabs which covered the graves. Underneath the stones were layers of clay into which were mixed bits of charcoal which proved that human hands had once handled it. And then about sixty centimeters down began to appear the humanu bones and the bits of gold.

Atmospherics From Cat!

While listening from a crystal set, a Manchester (Eng.) man started to stroke a cat that lay at his feet. Simultaneously with every stroke he noticed atmospherics in the phones.

Thinking that the noises might be caused by movements of his body and the flex cord, he tried stroking the carpet instead of the cat. He found that only by stroking in one place could he obtain the atmospherics, and there they appeared even when the cat was stroked by somebody else.

While using a coherer as a detector, Sir Oliver Lodge had a similar experience. He attributed the noise to little sparks caused by stroking a dry cat, and sufficiently powerful to affect the wireless set.

Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky in "The Winning of Barbara Worth"

Beauty and Drama in "Barbara Worth"

Tense dramatic incidents, an incomparable love story, unusual scenic effects, together with an underlying strain of comedy and the graphic portrayal of desert development join to make Harold Bell Wright's "The Winning of Barbara Worth," showing at the Lyceum theatre today also Thursday and Friday one of the outstanding photoplays of the year.

Filmed on the great arid Black Rock Desert, the story unfolds a world of entertaining and educational features before Ronald Colman, as Willard Holmes, begins to feel sure that he has finally won the fair Barbara, played by Vilma Banky.

AN EXAMPLE TO OTHERS

The treatment of prisoners in one South Australian jail is remarkably humane. A regular visitor inquired recently regarding an old offender:

"What's wrong with Bill? He seems to have a grouch?"

"No wonder," said one of his mates. "He threatened the warden with a shovel today and now they won't let him go to choir practice."

Real Proof

"That," said Mr. Newrich, pointing to a painting in his library, "is a magnificent art treasure."

"How do you know? By the artist's signature?"

"No; by my own signature on the check I gave the dealer."

The bureau of animal industry says that the number of veterinary colleges and the number of applicants for federal veterinary positions has fallen off in recent years; the total enrollment of students in the 13 accredited veterinary colleges in the United States and the one in Canada was only 582 last year; that the number of students who completed the required four-year course and were graduated from the various colleges in 1926 was only 132, or 11 less than the number in 1925, and the combined freshman enrollment in all the veterinary colleges in 1926 was only two larger than the total enrollment in 1925.

Beacon for Mount Etna

Winds which sweep the magnificent summit of Mount Etna, Sicily, soon will be harnessed to light one of the world's most powerful beacons, a million candlepower light which will guide flyers on the Mediterranean air routes, according to Popular Science Monthly. Experts estimate that the power it will draw from the winds will exceed the power which is generated by the huge plants at Niagara Falls.

Seek Sunken Treasure

Tenders for salvage work on any vessels sunk in the Aegean and Ionian seas, including those in Navarino bay, have been invited by the Greek government. It is estimated that there is about $50,000,000 worth of gold and silver lying at the bottom of the sea in Navarino bay. This vast wealth was lost when the British, French and Russian squadrons sank the Turkish fleet in 1827.

Gleam of Gold

All that glitters may not be gold, but there is no doubt that so far as evening fashions go this is a winter when the gleam of gold and silver gives scintillant beauty to a mode that has infinite allure. Even the most simple gowns have intricate designs worked out in thousands of tiny crystals, while black or dark-toned velvets are effective backgrounds for motifs done in pearls or rhinestones.

New Fur Fashion

Spirals have come to be as well recognized a motif in the furrier's art as chevrons, which dominated fur garments for so long. One of the newest adaptations of this mode is shown in an evening coat of gold and silver mesh, trimmed with kolinsky. The huge stole collar forms a spiral, which connects with another spiral formed by the band at the hem.

Children's Sore Throat

Mothers know that children's sore throats are serious, often leading to tonsilitis, scarlet fever or diphtheria. Also that it is hard to treat because the usual remedy is a gargle and children cannot gargle.

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine works on new principle—goes direct to the cause not reached by gargles and patent medicines and brings relief within 15 minutes or money back.

And the remarkable thing about it is it contains no iron, chloroform or dope—harmless and safe, pleasant taste. Remember, relief within 15 minutes or money back. 35c, 60c and $1.00. Sold by Skauge Drug Co. and all good drug stores. —Advt

RARE ART OBJECTS IN BEEHIVE TOMB

Find Fills Antiquarians With Delight.

Golden drinking cups, necklaces of gold rosettes, silver signet rings, carved agates, and other ornaments of a workmanship that challenges comparison with the best jewelry of today, and yet made at least 3,000 years ago, have come to light in an ancient beehive tomb in Greece. The treasure was found by a group of Swedish archeologists, headed by Prof. Axel W. Persson of Upsala university. The art objects, contemporary with the tomb of King Tutankhamen in Egypt, are now locked in a special safe in the Greek museum at Nauplia.

Usually the beehive tombs have been plundered of all contents centuries ago, but this one was intact, and the antiquities placed as mementoes with the bodies of a king and queen and princess were most convincing proof of the high culture that prevailed in Greece during the Mycenean age, or before Homer. Pictures of such animals as lions and bulls decorated the golden vessels and rings, while the war scenes, artistically carved in the small agate stones on the signet rings, aroused the immediate admiration of the excavators. Curiously enough, the design of an octopus on the bottom of the king's drinking cup reminded Professor Persson, he said in his lecture in Sweden, of Japanese art, while certain prehistoric houses found in Greece recall the cubistic effects that ultra-modern architects achieve with re-enforced concrete.

Originally the existence of a beehive tomb had been reported to the Greek authorities at Mycenae by a guide named Orestes who, while conducting an American woman to the ruined Mycenean fortress of Midea, had noticed peasants removing flat stones from a tobacco field near Dendra, less than a mile from Midea.
